

Revise Taxes To Unshackle Industry, Plea To Committee

U. S. Chamber of Commerce Expert Sees Gain in Relief

MUST REMOVE FEAR

Says House Bill Improvement but Does Not Go Far Enough

Washington.—(U)—A tax expert of the United States Chamber of Commerce forecast a three billion dollar increase in federal relief costs and a billion loss in estimated revenue today unless the tax system is revised.

Ellsworth C. Alvord told the senate finance committee:

"Industry must be unshackled. Fears of vindictive taxation must be removed. The use of our tax system as an experimental laboratory must be abandoned."

The chamber's witness, a former treasury employee, said the house bill pending before the committee made decided improvements in existing tax laws but "didn't go far enough."

Alvord asked complete abandonment of the "undistributed profits tax" theory, saying "the present law drives capital into tax exempts and prevents its investment in new enterprises."

Four Recommendations

He recommended:

1. A maximum rates of 15 per cent on incomes of corporations, with lower graduated rates for those with an income of $25,000 or less.

2. A maximum 12 1/2 per cent rate on capital gains, or rates graded from 15 to 5 per cent over a ten-year period.

3. A maximum individual surtax rate of 40 per cent instead of the present 75 per cent.

4. Retroactive removal of "a few of the most glaring mistakes of the undistributed profits law."

Roy Osmond, vice president of the First National bank of Chicago and another chamber witness, said the increase in federal and state gift and estate taxes in recent years had "retarded the flow of capital into employment and wealth-producing enterprise."

The 75 per cent maximum surtax on large individual incomes now applies to net incomes of more than $5,000,000 a year. Chairman Harris (D-Miss.) of the senate finance committee has suggested the maximum tax might be reduced to 60 per cent.

In a statement prepared for Harrison's committee, the chamber also suggested repeal of the undistributed profits tax and further revision of the capital gains. The house modified both those levies in its general tax revision bill.

Besides cutting surtaxes, there have been suggestions for broadening the income tax base. Senator Borah (R-Ind.) told reporters he found strong sentiment for that proposal in a canvass of his colleagues.

Borah Against Plan

"I oppose it," he said. "They are trying to shift the burden of taxes on the low income class least able to pay."

Senator Norris (I-Neb.), an administration supporter, said he opposed any lowering of present income tax exemptions.

The chief problem facing the senate committee is how to encourage business expansion and investment without curtailing federal revenue. The treasury has asked that the tax bill raise $5,330,000,000 a year.

The house removed from the measure a proposed surtax on closely-held corporations. The senate committee is expected to take out the undistributed profits tax and substitute a flat-rate capital gains levy for the present sliding scale.

If the committee changes these two levies to please business, however, it will incur the opposition of the administration and will cut down the amount of revenue obtainable.

Committee members therefore are considering fixing flat rates on corporation income and capital gains sufficiently high to make up funds in other categories.

Cashiers Would Be Happy!

Sales taxes were dropped in five of 28 states when the original statutes expired. In 10 states (Washington not included), the levies come to their legal end next year, and may not be renewed in some of them. Among reasons is difficulty in accurately predicting yield; revenues collected ranged from 61 to 211 per cent of anticipated yield. There is no sales tax on Want Ads—and how they do yield! This one, for example:

WON'T RESIGN

Chairman Arthur E. Morgan (above) of the Tennessee Valley authority will reject any demand by President Roosevelt for his resignation, his friends announced today, before a White House showdown.

Railroad Merger Proposal Sure to Face Difficulties

Pride in Tradition to be Among Stumbling Blocks, Belief

Washington.—(U)—Several large "ifs" spike the track that leads to national railroad consolidation, observers of the White House railroad studies said today.

Although government officials and railroad executives who favor consolidation believe $600,000,000 could be saved every year through combining routes and systems, they admit the job would be difficult.

Personal pride—an intangible factor—is not the least obstacle to working out the solution, observers said.

Veteran rail executives would be unlikely to take kindly to losing their jobs or being absorbed into larger networks. Many of them have grown up with their roads and have a strong pride in tradition.

Another stumbling block would be providing work for all employees who would lose jobs through consolidations. President Roosevelt said last week some way would have to be found to take care of them.

The Association of American Railroads estimates operating and non-operating workers at about 1,000,000. Government estimates indicate 200,000 to 400,000 might be forced out of work.

A third problem would be working out valuations of properties so that each system would get a fair return. And more difficult than working out ratios, some observers say, would be the job of getting interested parties to agree on the financial details of consolidation.

Regardless of all difficulties, some government analysts think consolidation will be pushed through, though not at this session of congress.

Report Hitler Angered

Over Brazil's Attitude

Berlin.—(U)—The German foreign office organ indicated today that Adolf Hitler, in his role of protector of Germans abroad, was casting angry glances in the direction of Brazil.

Deutsche Diplomatsche - Politische Korrespondenz expressed chagrin that the government of President Getulio Vargas was not showing a strong hand in suppressing anti-German measures in the country. The publication said Germany had warmly welcomed Vargas' inauguration of a totalitarian regime last Nov. 16.

(Vargas recently rejected German embassy representations against his ban on Nazi political activities in Brazil, based on his prohibition of all political parties.)

The foreign office organ said measures "against Germanism and its organizations" were "extremely amazing," especially in southern Brazil.

Charge Man Threatened

Roosevelt in Letters

New York.—(U)—A 35-year-old self-styled "educator," father of two children, was held in $5,000 bail today on charges of writing threatening letters to President Roosevelt. Mrs. Roosevelt and several cabinet members.

The prisoner, Lester David O'Dell, was denounced by Magistrate Irving Ben Cooper yesterday as "a clever, shrewd, cunning type, vicious to the extreme." He was held for a hearing March 30.

Magistrate Cooper said O'Dell, apparently well educated, had written a series of annoying letters to Mayor Fiorella LaGuardia two years ago but the mayor had declined to prosecute in the belief the man was a crank.

The magistrate did not make public contents of the letters written to the president but said they were "definitely threatening."

Bandit Wounds Man as

Latter Resists Holdup

Eau Claire.—(U)—Raymond Robeson, 55, this city, is in a critical condition in a local hospital suffering from a bullet wound received last night while resisting a holdup. Robeson told police he was accosted by a stranger as he was putting his car in the garage and informed it was a holdup. When he struck the bandit in the face the latter shot and fled.

TVA Chairman Won't Resign, Friends Aver

Determined to Persist in Refusal to Offer Data On Charges

MAY FACE OUSTER

Final Session Is Held Today at White House on 3-Year-Old Feud

Washington.—(U)—President Roosevelt gave Chairman Arthur E. Morgan of the Tennessee Valley authority today the alternative of withdrawing his charges against his TVA colleagues, or tendering his resignation.

The president, at the third White House hearing on TVA internal controversies, gave Morgan until 2:30 p. m. tomorrow to state any reason he thought the president should not take executive action.

Washington.—(U)—Declarations that TVA Chairman Arthur E. Morgan would reject any presidential demand for his resignation came today from his friends, shortly before a White House showdown on the three-year-old feud among TVA directors.

Associates said Morgan had determined to stand pat on his refusal to document charges against his colleagues outside of a congressional inquiry.

This refusal, they predicted, might lead President Roosevelt to demand his resignation or to seek his ouster.

The president, who had asked the three TVA directors to back up their charges and counter charges against each other, gave Chairman Morgan until 1:30 p. m. Eastern Standard time, to answer "yes or no" as to whether he was willing to proceed in the inquiry.

A negative answer, Mr. Roosevelt said, would prove the TVA head guilty of contumacy—disregard of authority.

Promptly at the appointed hour, the three directors went into Mr. Roosevelt's office.

Demands Investigation

The president told Chairman Morgan after he had refused to testify last Friday:

"On the face of the record as it stands today, the charges of the other directors that Chairman Morgan has obstructed and sabotaged the work of the TVA must be accepted as true. Chairman Morgan having refused to offer testimony in denial of the charges."

Senator Bridges (R-N. H.), one of those demanding a thorough TVA investigation by congress, declared that "if any one resigns from the TVA, I shall demand the resignation of the other two directors."

(Besides Dr. Morgan, the TVA directorate includes Harcourt Morgan and David E. Lilienthal. Chairman Morgan accused the other two of "bad faith" and "official misconduct," and they countered with a charge that he sought to "rule or run" in TVA.)

Bridges contended there should be no designations until a full and complete investigation of the agency had been made.

Two Sisters Die

In Auto Smashup

Four Persons Injured

When Car Crashes Into Abutment

Waupun.—(U)—Two Madison sisters, Mrs. O. J. Wilke, 64, and Mrs. Anna Kropf, 66, were injured fatally and four others hurt when their automobile struck an abutment on U. S. Highway 151, three miles south of here, yesterday.

The injured were the Rev. O. J. Wilke, husband of one of the victims, and pastor of St. John's Lutheran church of Madison. Mrs. Kropf's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Waldemar Kropf, and their daughter, Peggy, 5.

Peggy received a skull fracture and was taken to Waupun hospital. The others escaped with minor cuts and bruises.

The Rev. Mr. Wilke lost control of his car on a curve, the machine veering into an abutment and skidding across the highway to strike on the opposite side. Mrs. Wilke and Mrs. Kropf were hurled through the top of the machine.

Mr. Wilke was enroute to Oshkosh to deliver a sermon. A coroner's jury was impaneled and an inquest ordered.

A daughter of Mrs. Kropf, Mrs. Harwood Evans, resides in Oshkosh.

Three Armed Men Sought

In Green Bay Robbery

Green Bay.—(U)—Three armed men, all about 35, were sought by officials today for the $500 holdup of the New York bar, operated by Ed "Happy" Houck on the eastern outskirts of the city.

Deputy Sheriff Edward Thomson said the three entered the club yesterday by calling John Bognom, the watchman, with a knock on the door. They taped his mouth and bound his hands. Boehm told Thomson, and then while he lay on the floor of a rear room, two charwomen—Mrs. Arnold Peterson and Marcella Everts—entered. They also were taped and bound, and shoved into a washroom.

HELD AS 'CHISELER'

Stanley Jasosky (above), 19, was held in Newark, N. J., on a charge of attempted extortion in connection with the kidnapping of Peter Levine, 12, of New Rochelle, N. Y. Authorities said Jasosky had written threatening letters to the boy's father, demanding $30,000, but said he was not wanted for the kidnapping itself.

Petroleum Board And Government Run Oil Industry

Mexican Groups Take Over Operation of U. S. And British Firms

Mexico City.—(U)—A petroleum board jointly representing the Cardenas government and labor veterans today took operation of Mexico's nationalized oil industry.

The board assumed responsibility for producing gasoline and other crude oil products to supply the country's needs on the same scale as when the oil industry was controlled by 17 British and American companies.

The problem of maintaining foreign markets loomed large on the changing Mexican economic horizon as President Lázaro Cardenas' socialist government and its union allies undertook operation of the industry.

A two-year controversy between foreign oil companies and the industry's 18,000 union laborers brought about nationalization of the industry under a presidential decree last Friday.

The companies, already paying their workers the highest wages in Mexico, had protested they were unable to continue operation if they met increases granted by an arbitrary board and approved by the supreme court. It was estimated these increases would boost labor costs to the industry between $7,200,000 and $12,000,000.

Working demands for reduced working hours and other benefits had been granted.

The first step in carrying out the expropriation was for the workers' syndicate to oust company officials. The officials were denied access to their offices and were forced to establish temporary headquarters in private residences.

The companies were expected to fight the expropriation decree through attacks on constitutionality of President Cardenas' act.

Crabb Liberated Under

Bond in Slaying of Wife

Pekin, Ill.—(U)—James Crabb, 21, year-old banker's son, was at liberty under $17,500 bond today after his indictment by the grand jury on charges of manslaughter and perjury in connection with the fatal shooting of his pretty bride of five weeks.

Circuit Judge Harry J. Ingram set young Crabb's arraignment for next Saturday. Manslaughter and perjury both carry penalties of one to 14 years in the penitentiary.

The grand jury returned the indictment late Saturday at the conclusion of a four-day inquiry. State Attorney Rayburn Russell had asked a murder indictment.

Young Crabb was held in the county jail without bail for a week. He confessed, Sheriff Ralph Goar said, that he accidentally shot his 19 year old wife, Betty Collison Crabb.

Poland and Lithuania Planning to Restore Old Railroad Communication

Warsaw, Poland.—(U)—Poland and Lithuania, deciding not to go to war, made plans today to fix up an old railway line so they could resume friendly communication.

The Polish railways ordered work begun at once on repairing the right-of-way of the Wilno-Kaunas line.

The turn from war to peace was accomplished on Saturday by Lithuania's acceptance of Polish demands that communications be resumed and that the two countries exchange diplomatic envoys.

Side by side, the two nations had been at odds since Poland took Wilno, the old Lithuanian capital, 18 years ago.

An exposition of the tasks ahead was expected from Foreign Minister Joseph Beck when he addresses the Polish parliament on Wednesday.

Bodies of Six Men Sought in Raft Disaster

Susquehanna River Being Draggd by Pennsylvania Police.

STRUCK BRIDGE PIER

One Body Recovered After 47 are Hurlled Into River in Tragedy

Williamsport, Pa.—(U)—Old rafting tradition was cast into the discard today as police and volunteer searchers dragged the murky waters of the Susquehanna river for the bodies of six men believed drowned in the crash of the "last raft" against a bridge pier.

One man was dead. The body of one man was recovered. He was W. C. Ansoyoc, 66, of Philadelphia, a "joy-rider."

Missing were Thomas Proffitt, Chester, a news reel camera man; Dr. C. F. Taylor, burgess of Montgomery borough; H. C. Conner, chief pilot of the raft; Burnside; Harry Bernstein, Tyrone; Malcolm MacFarland, New York, and W. W. Holly, Bradford.

Proffitt was recording the reenactment of old rafting practices when the 112-foot craft, made up of 51 huge pine "sticks" hurled all but one of its 48 passengers into the river.

In the "old days," which a small group of elderly former rivermen and descendants of lumbermen and raftsmen were trying to recreate by a 200-mile voyage to Harrisburg, the death of a member of the crew never halted the voyage.

Levy "Bud" Conner of Glen Campbell, builder of the raft and brother of the missing chief pilot, said the trip would be resumed after repairs were made today.

But Dr. Thomas C. Brandon, coroner, declared the raft could not leave its mooring place until after he completed an investigation.

Conquered Worse Places

The clumsy vessel had passed through far more perilous places than the scene of the tragedy in its week-long journey from the headwaters of the Susquehanna river.

Over six-foot dams and through rapids, it took its elderly crew, its

Bishops Await

Answer to Plea

Protestant Group Wants

Catholic Hierarchy to Approach Franco

New York.—(U)—A group of 61 Protestant bishops today awaited a reply to its plea that the Catholic hierarchy of America use its influence with General Francisco Franco to halt bombing of civilians in Spain.

The bishops, representing Methodist and Protestant Episcopal churches in 36 states, declared in an open letter:

"We realize that the Catholic hierarchy of this country has for reasons which seem good to it, chosen to defend the Franco (insurgent) cause. It is for this very reason, knowing that word from you would carry weight and force, that we call upon you to act."

"We believe that you see as clearly as we do that, regardless of any possible merits or General Franco's position... the war which began as a military uprising and a purely Spanish struggle is showing itself with ever increasing clarity to be an integral part of a general program of conquest in which, on other points, the Nazi-fascists have not hesitated to attack the Catholic church and Christianity itself."

The letter asserted General Franco's aerial bombing of Barcelona and other cities was "barbarous, inhuman" and without military justification.

Jews Assailed

The war score over most newspaper comment centered around Jews, who were blamed for rioting on Saturday because they assertedly started a run on banks.

The students' association of Warsaw by resolution demanded that all persons who withdrew their savings should be deprived of citizenship and that the frontier should be closed to Jewish refugees from Austria.

Dinneen's Extra Tax Assessment Cut to $18,514

Dane County Board of Review Reduces Amount From $60,000

Madison.—(U)—The Dane county board of review in a final order today reduced an additional income tax assessment against William H. Dinneen, former secretary of the state public service commission, from $60,000 to $18,514.

Special State Counsel William H. Spohn at the same time announced an additional assessment of $15,000 charged against Mrs. Dinneen.

She would be charged with the income tax liability of her husband and was represented in the assessment against him.

The state tax commission had assessed Dinneen $60,000 on allegedly unreported income of $119,000. The commission charged, following an examination of Dinneen's bank records during the B. E. Buckman and company investigation, that Dinneen had failed to report $23,000 over a 10-year period and that Mrs. Dinneen had unreported income of $75,000.

Facing Trial

The former secretary, who is awaiting trial April 11 on a charge of fraudulently conveying confidential state information to the bankrupt B. E. Buckman investment company, is unable to pay the additional taxes, his attorney, Ray T. McCann informed the board.

McCann said that while his client does not admit receiving any income not reported on his tax blanks, he has no evidence to refute the board's findings.

The hearing closed, therefore, without any defense testimony being presented by Dinneen and this, Spohn said, blocks any possibility of appeal to the courts.

Dinneen had occupied the witness stand at successive hearings extending over two months.

He admitted he received Bylesby funds of $33,500 from two men now deceased, Robert O'Malley, Madison banker, and Halford Erickson, former member of the old state railroad commission, but said this money was in the form of gifts and loans, not taxable income.

Chinese Defenses

Resist Japanese

Cling to Trenches Despite

Heavy Artillery Shelling

Shanghai.—(U)—Japanese shock troops failed to crack Chinese defenses today in a bloody battle along the ancient grand canal.

Despite terrific artillery shelling, the Chinese clung to their trench lines on the south bank of the canal 18 miles north of Su-chow.

An advance guard of Japanese cavalry which swam the river was driven back by Chinese machine gun and rifle fire.

The Japanese were fighting desperately to effect a crossing and continue their advance down the Tientsin-Pukow railway line to Su-chow, where the line crosses the east-west Lung-hai railway.

Hanchuang, on the southern border of Shantung province where the Tientsin-Pukow line crosses the canal, fell into Japanese hands. Japanese were assaulting Taichewang, 25 miles to the east.

Both sides admitted heavy losses. The fighting has been going on incessantly since the Japanese started their new drive down the Tientsin-Pukow railway more than a week ago.

A Japanese flanking force swung to the east and occupied Yihien in the push on Taichewang. Three American women missionaries were reported to be in Yihien.

Utah Senator Assails

Reorganization Bill

Washington.—(U)—Senator King (D-Utah) told the senate today that passage of the administration's reorganization bill would mean that "expectations of balancing the budget and lifting the heavy tax burden must be abandoned."

The broad reorganization powers which would be granted to the president under terms of the pending measure would permit "bureaucratic government" to become more powerful and therefore more autocratic," King asserted.

Majority Leader Barkley (D-Ky.) expressed hope the senate would vote today on two controversial amendments to the reorganization measure.

Both were offered by Senator Byrd (D-Va.). One would insert in the measure a congressional recommendation that government costs be cut 10 per cent by the reorganization.

The other would preserve the office of comptroller general. A provision of the bill would abolish this office.

Wolf River Ice Goes Out as Water Level Reaches Season's High

New London.—Ice left the Wolf river at New London Sunday as thawing snows swelled the waters to the season's high level mark. The river reached a stage nearly seven feet above normal yesterday after rising more than one-half foot a day last week. The scale reading Saturday was 7.8 feet and yesterday morning the scale reading was 9.1 feet. The normal level is 1.6 feet.

Water reached to the foundations of north side dwellings as the level of the river came within 18 inches of the top of the concrete retaining walls lining the river through the business section. No serious effects were expected.

The

Harold Best Trial Opens in Court at Prairie du Chien

If Guilty of Delinquency He Faces Sentence to Industrial School

Prairie du Chien, Wis.—(P)—Court for curly-haired Harold Best, 15-year-old farm boy charged with delinquency in the fatal shooting of his 11-year-old sister, Mildred, commenced its opening statement to a jury today by asserting, "we'll prove that the cause of this murder lies at some other door."

Defense Attorney Carl N. Hill of Madison, at whose request Circuit Judge S. E. Smalley opened the trial to the public, declared Crawford county officials mistreated the youth in obtaining confessions, but repudiated that he killed his sister.

Prairie du Chien—(P)—At the request of defense counsel, Circuit Judge Sherman E. Smalley today decreed an open trial for Harold Best, 15-year-old farm boy charged with delinquency after the fatal shooting last June of his 11-year-old sister, Mildred.

This marked the second departure from usual juvenile proceedings, the defense request for a jury trial also having varied from usual procedure.

The courtroom was packed as selection of a jury began, with questioning of a panel of 20, half of them women, by District Attorney James Cullen and Defense Attorney Carl N. Hill.

The boy, who will be 16 March 30, appeared nervous. His mother, Mrs. Bernice Best, LaCrosse divorcee, was in court.

Two veniremen were excused by the court on their assertion they did not wish to serve as jurors. Two more names were drawn.

Experts to testify

Attorneys expressed the belief selection of the jury might require the entire day.

If convicted of being a delinquent child—a juvenile may not be accused of crime in Wisconsin—Harold may receive a maximum sentence of confinement in the state industrial school until he is 21.

Hill had three University of Wisconsin faculty members and state toxicologist Frank Kozelka waiting to testify for the defense. The professors are Dr. C. H. Bunting, pathologist; Dr. William F. Lorenz, psychiatrist; and J. H. Mathews, biologist.

Sheriff Oliver White of Crawford county, ready to take the stand for the prosecution, has asserted the boy made oral and written confessions he shot and killed his sister, and once re-enacted the crime.

Slaying June 4

Harold and Mildred lived with their aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Orla Shaw, on a farm near Soldiers Grove. When the couple returned home the night of June 4, Harold was asleep and Mildred dead in her bed with a .22 caliber rifle bullet through her head.

Eleven days after the slaying, Orla Shaw died and was buried at Viroqua, beside the body of his niece, Mildred. Dr. William F. Lorenz, University of Wisconsin psychiatrist, and Prof. J. H. Mathews, criminologist, subsequently said Harold had been given a truth serum and lie detector test and that they believed he was attempting to shield someone, either the actual slayer or someone having guilty knowledge of the crime.

Harold's mother, Mrs. Bernice Best, divorced and living in LaCrosse, maintained throughout that her son did not shoot Mildred.

Grand Chute Nominates Town Heads at Caucus

Emmet O'Connor was nominated for reelection as chairman of the Grand Chute town board without opposition at a caucus Saturday. John Timmers and John Wilhams, present town supervisors, and George Krickberg were nominated as members of the town board.

Wayne Rowan, present clerk, and Grover Wolf were nominated for that office. Ray Feuerstein was nominated without opposition for reelection as treasurer. John Mueller, incumbent, and Harold Heckel were nominated for the office of assessor. Herbert Yandre, incumbent, and Ed Paddelford were nominated for the office of constable. Stanley Gillespie was nominated without opposition for the office of justice of the peace.

Whitney in Bad Financial Straits in 1937, He Says at Public Hearing in New York

New York—(P)—Richard Whitney, 49, expelled former president of the New York Stock exchange, disclosed at a public hearing today that he was in serious financial straits in November, 1937, and that his brother, George Whitney, a partner in J. P. Morgan and Company, came to his aid with a personal loan of $1,082,000.

He also disclosed that his misuse of customers' securities "presumably" went back as far as 1932, at which time he was president of the New York Stock Exchange.

In addition, the stalwart, grey-haired broker, who already has pleaded guilty to two grand larceny indictments, admitted that a questionnaire filed with the stock exchange early this year concerning the financial status of his firm contained "many, many false statements."

Long in Need of Funds

"When were you first pressed for money so that you used securities of customers as collateral for loans?" he was asked.

Sen. LaFollette to Ask for Changes in Rail Retirement Act

Washington—(P)—Senator LaFollette (P-Wis.) proposed today two amendments to the railroad retirement act of 1937 which would make its pension provisions applicable to additional workers.

One would provide for the payment of pensions to all retired railroad employees over 70 years old on March 1, 1937, who had had 10 years service after age of 50 years and a total of 20 years service.

LaFollette said this would make pensions available to a large number of rail workers now denied benefits because their companies had no pension plan in operation when the government took over the pension obligations.

His other amendment proposed to strike from the present law a provision which denies rail employees who were not in the service on Aug. 29, 1935, credit for service prior to that date. He said many not then connected with any railroad but who previously had worked for railroads, since had been re-employed.

Republicans Hope To Gain in House In Next Election

Concentrating Efforts on 113 Districts in North, East

Washington—(P)—Directors of Republican efforts to wrest a sizable bloc of house seats from Democrats in the November election said today they were concentrating on 113 congressional districts, principally in northern and eastern states.

Lawrence Sullivan, secretary of the Republican congressional campaign committee, said that in 52 of these districts Republicans got within 5 per cent of enough votes to win in 1936. In 61 districts, he said, they polled within 10 per cent of the winner's total.

Republicans now have 90 house seats, the smallest number in recent years. The Democrats have 327.

Democratic Strategy

Victor Harding, secretary of the Democratic congressional campaign committee, said the Democratic strategy was to offer a "good offense as the best defense."

"In many districts where Democrats won in 1936 by small margins, they have made the best records," said Harding, scoffing at Republican claims.

Sullivan declared, on the other hand, that key men in the Republican organization foresaw a possibility of picking up four seats in New Jersey, three in Iowa, four or five in New England, one in Delaware, one in New York, one in Nebraska, two or three in California, four or five in Indiana, eight in Pennsylvania and seven in Ohio.

Both campaign committees—the Republican under Representative Martin (R-Mass.) and the Democratic under Representative Dwyer (D-Va.)—have been sending out speakers for weeks. But the real campaigning will begin only after congress adjourns and some of the primaries have been held.

The first primary will be April 12 in Illinois. Eighteen of the 21 Democratic representatives and all six of the Republicans are asking for renomination.

In the senate, Majority Leader Barkley said he would appoint soon a committee under Representative Martin (R-Mass.) and the Democratic campaign committee, Senator Guffey (D-Pa.), resigned the chairmanship last summer. Senator Townsend (R-Ind.) is the Republican chairman.

School Awarded Plaque In Seal Sale Campaign

Columbia school, town of Grand Chute, has been announced the winner of a plaque awarded to the rural school by the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis Association for making the highest per capita sale of seals in the last campaign. The school reported a sale of $4, an enrollment on Dec. 1, 1937, of 81, giving the school per capita sale of 50 cents. Miss Caroline M. Kauff is the teacher.

Committee Will Inspect Motorized Street Oiler

Members of the street and bridge committee of the common council will inspect a motorized street oiling machine at a meeting Thursday, according to Alderman Brautigam, committee chairman. The oiler now being used by the city is drawn by a team of horses.

CONDEMNED KIDNAPER TRIES PICTURE-TAKING

Once, shortly after John Henry Seadlund was returned to Chicago to face trial for the kidnaping of Charles Ross, John Henry Seadlund kicked a photographer. But after he had been sentenced to death for the crime, he met the photographers in the U. S. marshal's office and said "You guys have been taking my picture all the time; now let me take yours." He is shown here as he cocked the camera.

Spring Knocks Out Winter Today; 67 Degrees Recorded

Showers, Cooler Tomorrow, Is Weather Bureau's Forecast

After building up a heavy point advantage over the last several weeks, spring knocked out Old Man Winter at 1:43 this morning with a stiff left jab and then celebrated victory by presenting Appleton and the state in general with the warm and sunny last day of winter and the first day of 1938.

At 1 o'clock this afternoon the thermometer atop the Post-Crescent building registered 67 degrees. The Milwaukee weather bureau reported, however, that showers and cooler temperatures can be expected in this area tomorrow.

Just about everyone who could find a car to climb into went for a ride yesterday and hikers were numerous. Traffic on College avenue and on highways between Appleton and Neenah-Menasha and other valley cities was heavy as people sought the spring air and warm sun.

For the 24-hour period ending at 9 o'clock this morning, the highest mark in the city was 69 and the lowest, at 6 o'clock this morning, 36, according to charts at the Wisconsin Michigan Power company plant.

Abilene, Tex., reported a maximum of 90 degrees yesterday, highest in the nation. Winnemucca, Nev., with 12 above, was the coldest place.

450 New Hymns Will Be Dedicated April 3 At Methodist Church

Four hundred fifty new Methodist hymns which were purchased recently on the memorial plan by members of First Methodist Episcopal church will be dedicated Sunday, April 3, at the church. Published in 1935 as a joint project of the three churches which will soon unite, namely, Methodist Episcopal, Methodist Protestant churches, the hymnals were bought as one of the goals of the local church for this year. All but 100 of them were bought by members of the congregation in memory of departed relatives or friends.

Five choirs of 200 voices will participate in the dedication service April 3. They are the regular choir of the church, the junior choir, children's choir, youth choir and veterans' choir. All music for the service will be taken from the new hymnal.

Another goal for the church for this year was reached yesterday when the attendance at the Sunday school reached 300 persons. At the beginning of his pastorate last fall Dr. Harry C. Culver set 300 as the attendance goal for the Sunday school.

New Bus Line Is Given Commission's Approval

Circus Giant in Limelight at Annual Bayfield Fete as Paul Bunyan, Jr.

Bayfield, Wis.—(P)—The Mystic Knights of the Blue Ox, 500 strong, gave the No. 1 seat to Paul Bunyan, Jr., as they met in Feldmiller's wood-lot yesterday to honor the original Paul, mythical demigod of the lumberjack.

"Junior" was Cliff Thompson of Waupaca, Wis., whose 8 feet, 7 inches dent the scales to 408 pounds. Junior, for an entire, consumed a dozen Bunyan portions of the baked beans, mulligan stew, potatoes and raisin pie, and then called for the main course.

Residents of Bayfield, Washburn, Superior, Cornucopia, Minong and other communities of upper Wisconsin filled the highways with cars. Appetites were whetted by the sunny last day of winter and the fresh breezes blowing off the frozen stretches of Lake Superior.

The meal was served from an outdoor kitchen. Afterward, there was a program presided over by Captain Bill Miller of Bayfield, prominent marine authority, who acted as "Johnny Inkslinger," Paul's scribe, and recorded the names of all who passed the gates into the festival grounds.

Speakers included Lee Yorkson of Waupaca, manager of Paul, Jr., Thompson, Barney Pollers, 22, of Superior, Paul's miniature opposite, Mayor F. Bigelow of Bayfield, J. H. Carroll of Clidden, and several pioneer lumbermen who knew the area when logging was new and Paul Bunyan's name was one to use with awe and reverence.

Accorded selections, typical of camp music, and stories in Swedish dialect, supplemented by Bunyan yarns provided the entertainment.

Youngsters Hear Story Of 'The Selfish Giant'

Four tales were told by Miss Thelma Hall, University of Wisconsin field student, during story hour at the Appleton Public library Saturday morning. Sixty-eight children attended. The stories told were: "The Selfish Giant," "About Elizabeth Eliza's Piano," "The meeting of Robin Hood and Little John," and "The Great Pancake Record." Another story hour will be conducted at 10 o'clock Saturday morning.

Recommend Rental of City-Owned Property

Status of Crow Provides New Debate for Sportsmen

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison—A new wrinkle in the arguments of outdoor sportsmen was introduced this week with a vigorous discussion between opposing groups of experts on the status of the crow in the scheme of things.

Arguments for the crow and against the crow were highlighted last week when several hundred hunters, state conservation officials and field men, and notables from all over Wisconsin as guests of the Dane county sportsmen's league ate and drank at the Dane county crow banquet posed the question: Is the crow a piratical, dangerous parasite who is menacing because of his rapidly increasing numbers, or just an unpleasant bird who can easily be controlled by natural forces?

Last week Prof. Aldo Leopold, state university wildlife expert, sniped at the idea of placing crow hunting on a crusade basis, contending that haymowers, marsh and fence fires, and WPA crews are far more destructive of game birds than is the black pirate.

Gives Reply

This week a reply came from R. L. Straus, supervisor of license sales in the state conservation department, who maintains that crows are becoming annually more numerous, at least five-fold in the last 10 years, and should be controlled but not exterminated. The crow population, he says, is increasing because his natural enemies, the raven and the great horned owl, are decreasing, almost to the point of extermination.

In some localities crows have multiplied in numbers until they threaten entire crops, and when as many as four nests are found in a single tree, Straus holds, it is evidence that if they were allowed to increase at this rate it would not be long before drastic programs would be necessary.

According to Straus, crows cause as much damage on migratory waterfowl each year as do human hunters. He pointed also to the recent dynamiting of a crow roost in Rock county, with the killing of approximately 8,000 of the birds, as evidence that the birds are menacing farm crops. Presently there are 150,000 crows nesting in a single roost, in Rock county, he said.

Frost heaves still are numerous all over the central and northern part of the state, according to the report. There are a few places in the south and central parts of the state where there is water over the highways at times due to the spring thaws.

A few county trunk roads in the county are in poor traveling condition due to the thaws and county highway department workmen today were checking them. Some probably will be temporarily closed to travel until the water can be drained off. County Trunk 5 between New London and Stephentown was reported closed this morning due to water.

The following detours in the state still are in effect: Dodge county, State Trunk Highway 109, Hustonford-Woodland road Buffalo county, State Trunk Highway 88, Gilman-Mondovi road Marinette county, United States Highway 141, Crivits-Amberg road; Trempealeau county, United States Highway 53, Galesville-Elfrick road; Vilas county, United States Highway 45, Eagle River-Conover road.

House Rivers and Harbors Committee Prepares to Pass on Measure

Washington—(P)—The value of Great Lakes water to competing areas of the United States will be decided soon by the house rivers and harbors committee in determining the Parsons bill's merits.

Opponents of the measure, which would authorize Chicago to divert 3,000 cubic feet of water a second from Lake Michigan, claim sufficient committee votes to kill the bill.

Informal polls of the rivers and harbors group, lake state opponents of the Parsons proposal said, showed 14 committee members would vote against it; 8 for it, and 2 doubtful.

Score of witnesses have given voluminous testimony before the committee—testimony which attorneys general of the lake states said has convinced three of the formerly undecided committee members to vote against the proposal by Representative Parsons (D-Ill.).

Disputed from every side, Parsons and his supporters have contended 5,000 second feet of water was essential for a commercially useful waterway on the Mississippi rivers; that the limitation of 1,500 second feet decreed by the supreme court effective Dec. 31, 1938, was inadequate.

Opponents attacked this claim on legal and moral grounds. A letter from Secretary of State Hull supported the foes.

What Europe Should Note About U. S. Opinion

Although Secretary Hull devoted a large part of his address to arguing with those who believe they can make peace by resigning American rights and interests throughout the world, there is really no doubt whatever as to how the argument is going to end. When the matter is put to the test, the American people are not going to resign and retreat, and any one here or abroad who thinks that they are is deceiving himself.

He has not observed the unmistakable signs of the mighty change which has been taking place in American opinion since the sinking of the Panay, and he is basing his judgment upon the superficial and transient rather than upon the deep and enduring temper of the American people. It is particularly important that the foreign diplomats in Washington and that foreign newspaper men in this country should not misinform their governments and their peoples on this vital matter, by letting them think for one instant that the United States may be counted upon to stifle no matter what happens.

It is the unusual firm and authoritative tone of Secretary Hull's latest declaration, Mr. Hull is a soft-spoken man. Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Hull have long political experience and they are excellent judges of public opinion. If at this juncture they declare that they do not intend to abandon American rights and interests and that they intend to confer and collaborate with the other peaceable majority and that they believe in an expansion of American armaments, and in parallel action to preserve the peace, it is because they know that Congress and the people support them. They know that the series of events from the destruction of the Panay to the Austrian coup have shattered the influence of non-resistant pacifism and are convincing a rapidly increasing majority that the way to deal with aggressors is not to run away but to stand and turn upon them.

In confirmation of this it should be noted by foreign opinion that all effective opposition to the naval bill has collapsed. Foreigners should note that it is almost certain now that this bill which merely authorizes an increase will be supplemented by an appropriation bill which provides for an immediate increase.

They should note next the very significant, in fact the sensational, fact that the American High Commissioner and President Quezon are agreed that the United States should not plan to retire from the Philippines in the present unsettled condition of the Far East. This is a far-reaching event affecting the naval strategy of the whole world, a point which will be fully understood in Tokyo, and should not be overlooked in Rome and Berlin.

They should note, too, that the Neutrality act, if not in the letter then certainly in the spirit, is dead, that in so far as that legislation would weaken the nations with which our natural sympathies and interests lie, it will not control American foreign policy.

American Opinion No Longer Neutral
But more significant than any of these things is the emotional temper of the American people. A year ago they looked upon the actions of the aggressor states as unpleasant but as alien and remote. American opinion was still neutral in its main feeling. It is no longer neutral in anything like the same degree. Its predominant sympathies are overwhelmingly against the dictators and are with increasing passion in favor of the threatened democracies. That, I think, is the cold fact which any competent and objective observer can confirm for himself.

Moreover, and this is especially noteworthy, the thing which now exercises the greatest restraint upon American opinion is not the isolationist sentiment here but the vacillation and weakness in the threatened countries abroad. Just as Czechoslovakia cannot hope to get help from her allies if the Czechs do not resist, so the allies cannot hope for help from this country if they never stand and resist. But if they do stand, and set one of the aggressors back on his heels, they will, I venture to predict, let loose in this country a popular enthusiasm, now dammed up, which will have very great practical consequences.

Americans Will Side With The Democracies
Detached observers may differ as to whether this is good or bad but I do not think that any realistic reporter will deny that, when the European democracies take their

Progressives to Fight Naval Bill In House Debate

Wisconsin Bloc Not Convinced of Wisdom of Building Program

Washington—(C)—Wisconsin Progressives say they will be aligned against the billion dollar navy expansion in the house last week because they have not yet been convinced of the wisdom of such a building program.

Representative O'Malley (D-Wis.) cautioned undue speed in pushing the bill through the house in the absence of a well defined foreign policy. "Until and unless our government plays fair with the American people," he declared, "American mothers and fathers whose sons must furnish the fighting force of this nation, by definitely and clearly setting forth what our foreign policy is to be, I cannot in honesty to myself or my constituents, support this 'diplomatic bluff naval bill.'"

Suggests Referendum
Representative Southoff (P-Wis.) proposed to let the people vote this fall on whether they want the naval building program, but the administration majority is so overwhelming that Southoff doesn't expect to get far with his idea.

Representative Withrow (P-Wis.) favors the Kniffin amendment to the bill. This would establish a naval frontier. It is not acceptable to the majority of the bill's friends. "This would definitely define a naval frontier that the United States navy would protect against all foes," he said.

An effort probably will be made in the senate to change that section of the tax bill pertaining to processed cheese preparations.

Added Section

As passed by the house a section was added excluding certain processed cheese preparations from the filed cheese act.

Dairy representatives fought this because, Withrow said, "we felt it was not properly before the house and because the matter had not had the careful consideration of the house agriculture committee."

Withrow contends the revenue act as passed by the house would permit the manufacturer of a product made of skimmed milk and lard or any other edible oil to be sold under the guise of a cheese flavoring that would compete with the regular cheese.

Senator LaFollette also may seek to amend the bill in the senate finance committee to tax government bonds and salaries paid by state and local governments. Such income now is tax exempt.

WIN PRIZES IN LAWRENCE CONSERVATORY CONTEST

Three of the students who won scholarships in the contest held by Lawrence Conservatory of Music Saturday are from this vicinity.

The students and the amounts of the scholarships they won are, left to right, Farley Hutchins, Neenah, $150; Ruth Mewaldt, Appleton, $200; Edward Mumm, Appleton, $150.

Elmhurst, Ill., Girl Is Winner in Music Contest

Eleanor Ragland, Elmhurst, Ill., won first place in the Lawrence Conservatory of Music Scholarship contest held here Saturday and a $300 scholarship for her performance in piano competition.

Because of the large number of entries and the high quality of performance, the conservatory added another $1,000 to the scholarships originally offered, awarding a total of $2,250 in free tuition.

Second prize of $250 went to Harriet Peterman, Merrill, for excellence in voice and third honors, a $200 scholarship, to Ruth Mewaldt, Appleton, for violin ability.

Fourth, fifth and sixth places, each a $150 scholarship, were tied by six students. Edward Mumm, Appleton; Margaret Doctor, Green Bay; Evelyn May Grigsby, Park Ridge, Ill.; Farley Hutchins, Neenah; Betty Louis Landis, Chicago; and Robert Vanselow, Milwaukee.

In addition six honorable mention scholarships of $100 each were awarded to the following: Betty Berger, Evanston, Ill.; Rose Green, West Salem; Margaret Hall, West Allis; Enid Havens, Oak Park, Ill.; Graham Henken, Chicago; and Marie Hlingworth, Niagara.

Seventy-one students participated in the contest. They were entertained with campus tours during the day and attended a banquet Saturday night at which President Thomas N. Barrows spoke briefly.

Judges for the contest were Dean Carl J. Waterman, Cyrus Daniel, professor of theory and composition, and Albert Glockzin, associate professor of public school music.

500 Shops Fail to Pay Fees for Barber Code

Madison—William Schneider, legal counsel for the state trade practice commission announced today he will take steps to close 500 barber shops in Wisconsin unless they pay their assessments for administration of the state barber code.

Schneider said these shops have made no arrangements to meet their payments and that 250 others which expire Friday.

The assessments amount to $7 for each shop and $5.50 for each employee. They cover the 15-month period from the time the code was enacted until it expires on April 1, 1939.

Schneider said 850 shops have paid and 600 others have been granted extensions which expire in April and May.

The attorney declared he will file complaints and request restraining orders against delinquents in the counties where they operate.

Five Concerns Facing Added State Levies

Madison—(U)—Assessment of additional motor transportation taxes of $16,804.74 against a Racine trucking concern and four Chicago companies was announced today by the public service commission.

The commission said the assessments were made on unreported mileage of trucks in 1935, 1936 and 1937.

The extra taxes are: Commercial truckers, Racine, $1,641.33; O. K. Motor Service, Chicago, $8,487.51; Ever Ready Transit company, Chicago, $4,305.74; Keshish Motor Express, Chicago, $1,875.22; Ben-Lee Motor service, Chicago, $972.14.

A new law enacted last year requires all truckers to pay a flat tax on their vehicles. Previously they could pay on the basis of miles traveled.

The commission said staff audits revealed many concerns failed to make complete mileage reports under the old law and it already has collected $60,000 of additional assessments.

It Is Said--

That during the closing minutes of last meeting of the county board sessions the supervisors hold a "story hour." The period, during which time the mileage checks are passed out to the officials, is filled with merry quips delivered only as such story telling experts as Supervisors Sylvester Esler, Kaukauna; Chairman Mike Mack, Shiocton; and Supervisor Thomas Long, Appleton, can relate them. The hearty chuckles of the supervisors form a sharp contrast against the usual sessions when time is devoted to business transactions and county problems.

Hearst Retiring From Active Duty

Appoints Attorney to Consolidate Ramified Business Interests

New York—(U)—William Randolph Hearst, 75, and "consolidator of the uncertainties of life," is relinquishing active business management of his vast publishing and financial holdings.

The publisher has appointed Clarence J. Shearn, former New York supreme court justice and for years his personal attorney and political protegee, to reorganize and consolidate his ramified business interests.

In his new post Shearn will act as voting trustee of the publisher's stock in American Newspapers, Inc., parent holding company for the Hearst enterprises.

T. J. White, chairman of the executive committee of American Newspapers, Inc., said that Shearn and a committee of Hearst executives chosen by the publisher last October would carry out Hearst's wish to place on a more permanent basis a comprehensive plan of management for all of his varied enterprises—newspapers, magazines, art objects, mines, ranches and real estate.

Hearst, according to Poor's manual for 1937, owns 95 per cent of the stock of his chief holding company and is trustee for the rest. Under the reorganization plans, a statement by White said, the publisher and his family "retain their beneficial interest in the stock."

White said the Hearst publications employed 27,000 persons and consisted of 23 newspapers, "The American Weekly," nine magazines in this country and three in England.

Pennsylvania Executives

Slayer of 5 Neighbors

Bellefonte, Pa.—(U)—Martin Sullivan, in the December of life, died sobbing on this first day of spring in Pennsylvania's electric chair at Rockview penitentiary here.

The 74-year-old former patrolman at Duquesne, Pa., a suburb of Pittsburgh was executed for the slaying of five neighbors he accused of responsibility for his arrest on a charge of molesting a girl.

The pudgy Sullivan was convicted of slaying Mrs. Laura Bacon, a social worker, and pleaded guilty of shooting Joseph Benda and his wife, Helen, and Mrs. Mary Vukelj and her son, Milan.

Fate of Rexford Home Hangs In Balance as Appraisal Is Made of Property for Road

In a decision rendered today, County Judge Fred V. Heinemann appraised the Mrs. Eva L. Van Patten property, Shiocton, at $2,500. Petition for an appraisal of the property, which is to be used as a right-of-way when a new bridge is built over the Wolf river, was made by the county highway committee after negotiations for a satisfactory price failed.

Standing on the property, which is directly in the path of a relocation project on Highway 54 to route it over the new bridge, is the former home of Eben Eugene Rexford, author of "Silver Threads Among the Gold."

Fate of this famous old home now hangs in balance. If razed, a landmark made sacred by one of Wisconsin's premier men of letters will disappear. The state highway department, through L. W. Empey at the district office in Green Bay, has announced that it will give the home to any organization which can undertake to move it to a new location.

May Name Bridge

There has been talk among Shiocton townspeople of seeking a WPA project to move the house and restore it to its former condition. However, up to this time no action has been taken by any organized group. The highway committee is considering placing a marker on the bridge calling it the Eben Eugene Rexford bridge.

Rexford wrote the poem "Silver Threads Among the Gold" while attending Lawrence college at the age of 17, and sold it for $3. It was later set to music and became one to the nation's well-known native folk songs. He also wrote "Only a Fanny Blossom," another song which was equally popular in its day.

The last 40 years of his life were spent by Rexford at Shiocton. He divided his time about equally between writing poetry, a number of volumes of which were published, and in tending his hundreds of flowers, ferns and plants and writing about them.

Had Greenhouse

A large porch extends along the whole south side of the house, and this was glassed in by Rexford for his greenhouse. He had, and the smaller such room in the front of the house devoted entirely to ferns.

In another room he had hibiscus planted in the ground with the floor built around it.

His lawn was bedecked with hardy flowers and vines. There are still several rose bushes about the yard and wild crocus blooms in the back-yard hollow each spring.

Most of the beautiful plants were stolen off the property following Rexford's death in a Green Bay hospital, Oct. 18, 1936, and the building itself is in a run-down condition. The home was purchased by Rex Bauman, a nephew of Rexford's wife, and later sold to Mrs. Eva Van Patten, present owner.

Mrs. Van Patten has lived in it off and on since that time, renting it at various other times.

Attended Lawrence

Rexford was born in Johnsburg, N. Y., July 16, 1843. His family moved to the town of Ellington, Outagamie county, in 1853. He received his higher education at Lawrence college, where he continued writing poetry and verse for various publications which he had begun even earlier. Following his graduation he went to live at Shiocton. He never ventured from his home, and it is said he once refused an honorary degree from the University of Wisconsin because it involved going to Madison. He taught himself how to play the piano and the organ and had both instruments at home.

His own work of fiction was a volume in blank verse dealing with the Civil war, "Brothers and Lovers," published in 1886. Rexford's garden books were published during the next 20 years. Among them were "Grandmother's Garden," "Pansies and Rosemary," "Flowers and How to Grow Them," "The Home Garden," "Indoor Gardening," "ABC of Gardening" and "The Making of a Home."

Hearing on the petition for an appraisal was held in county court last Wednesday. The property includes 1.07 acres of land. Owner of the property has 30 days in which to appeal the decision of Judge Heinemann.

Inspector Issues Two Permits for Building

Martin Fursenberg, 228 N. Rankin street was given a permit to build an outside stairway on his home by the city building inspector this morning. Cost of the improvement is estimated at $15.

A permit was given to Mrs. Freda Huebner, 508 N. State street, to construct a foundation under an addition on her home. The foundation will be of concrete blocks, 21 by 12 feet, and is estimated to cost $240.

Each apartment building will have a trained occupant responsible for organizing the defense of other tenants in event of danger. In other cases one person will be responsible for several houses.

Health Queries ANSWERED

Question: I am not at all well. I have pains every month, tried all remedies with no results. Will Chiropactic help me?

Answer: Some women continually bear the burden of serious distress and pain month after month. Few of them realize that their ailment is due, primarily, to a nerve disorder that can be corrected so that they may be free of system wracking cramps that make life miserable for them periodically. Most women can be strong, healthy and happy because their highly nervous, complex organism readily responds to Chiropactic correctly applied. I may suggest that a large number of women, many of whom you know, who have been restored to health should be very good evidence that your case is no different from many others that came to this Clinic and are now well. Chiropactic as applied in this Clinic offers a safe and effective means of restoring normal nerve function and health is the natural consequence.

Question: Is Chiropactic good for head colds? Mrs. J. H.

Answer: Yes, Mrs. J. H., Chiropactic is very effective in case of head colds. When the nerve supply to the head and throat is restored to normal so that the proper resistance may be supplied an adequate vital energy reaches the membrane through the medium of nerves, colds quickly will be eliminated. Abraham Lincoln said, "I will read and learn and perhaps my chance will come." I suggest to you who are sick investigate the twentieth century health science. For your appt. phone 4319W.

Early Spring Yearning To Plant Flowers May Be Satisfied in Books

March is the month when gardeners begin to get that longing to putter in the backyard, to prune shrubbery, to plant something, no matter what, or perhaps to plan an expansive garden.

Miss Leone Steidl, library assistant at the Appleton Public Library suggests some books which furnish a key to intelligent garden planning and also suggests a group of representative titles.

"The Complete Garden" by A. D. Taylor, is a practical book on gardening and presents a comprehensive idea of what, when, where and how to plant. Contained in the book are more than 400 pages of text, a carefully prepared and detailed index, a glossary of terms relating to work covered in the book and many charts and diagrams.

How to arrange flowers and plants according to the time of bloom is told in "Color and Succession of Bloom in the Flower Border," by H. S. Orloff. Covered in the book is information on height, color, soil requirements and geographic distribution of flowers. Flowers suited to shady areas, moist borders and poor soil exposed to the sun are listed.

Flower Chart
A highlight of the book is a new and simple color chart which shows methods of securing color harmony, contrast and balance. Another book on the same subject, available at the library, is "Color Schemes for the Flower Garden," by Gertrude Jekyll.

"Modern Dahlias" by Robert, is an informative and friendly book which interprets, step-by-step, the various problems of the dahlia gardener. The author is an experienced dahlia grower and planned this modern manual on all phases of present-day dahlia culture.

George Aiken, a pioneering nurseryman, wrote "Planting with Fruits and Vegetables," which deals with simple facts and should be helpful to both the suburbanite and the farmer. The illustrations, made by an experienced photographer, are a valuable asset to the book.

Following is a list of garden books available at the library: General gardening, "The Garden Book," by J. B. Hoodland; "Gardens for Town and Suburb," by V. N. Solly; "Informal Gardens," by H. S. Orloff; "The Art of Home Landscaping," by M. E. Bottomley; "Gardening for the Small Place," by Leonard Barron; "The Outdoor Living Room," by Ramsay and Lawrence; "Everybody's Garden," by W. P. Eaton; "Plant Propagation for the Garden," by D. C. Fairburn.

Books on Flowers
Flowers, "Flowers to Grow and Gather," by Mrs. M. W. Flexner; "Rose Growing for Amateurs," by Thomas; "A Year in the Rose Garden," by J. H. Nicolas; "Climbing Roses," by Stevens; "Delphiniums," by Leonard; "Lilies in the Garden," by Quirt; "Gladioli," by Rodwell; "The Gladioli and Its Culture," by Beal; "Peonies," by Rodwell; "Garden Candelabras," by H. M. Fox.

Fruits and vegetables, "Celery Culture," by W. R. Beattie; "Asparagus," by F. M. Hexamer; "Cauliflower and Bri Ocoli Culture," by A. Bouquet; "Home Vegetable Garden," by Adolph Krum; "Peas, Bean Culture," by Glen Sevey.

Miscellaneous, "Mushroom Growing," by Duggar; "Adventures in My Garden and Rock Garden," by C. H. Matesch; "Patio Gardens," by H. M. Fox; "Beautiful Gardens in America," by Louise Shelton; "English House Grounds," by Mabel Parsons; "Trees and Shrubs for the Small Place," by Arthur Carhart; "Gardening Indoors," by Rockwell and Grayson; "In a Weekend Garden," by Maude S. Welch.

Back issues of American Home magazine, Better Homes and Gardens and new seed catalogs also are available at the library.

IT'S ODD But It's Science

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Editor

New York — Walt Disney ought to know about this.

It happened at a luncheon of scientists at the American Museum of Natural History here. Curators of all the kinds of animals Disney animates were present.

They were discussing the Disney film, "Snow White And The Seven Dwarfs." And they said—

Disney's insects wings were wrong.

No animal could stand on hind legs the way they do in "Snow White" to peer into the window of the dwarfs' cottage.

No deer has a tongue long enough to wrap around a dish the way they do in dusting off the dwarfs' dishes.

No turtle could climb stairs headfirst, as the Snow White one does.

The turtle might go upstairs tail first, if at all.

His neck couldn't pull him up the way it does in the dwarfs' house. Snakes don't wriggle in vertical loops. They wriggle from side to side.

And the scientist who made these remarks added:

"I'm glad Walt Disney didn't ask the scientists first."

Appleton Woman Speaks At Seymour Gathering

Seymour — Mrs. George Wetzel of Appleton was the guest speaker at the meeting of the Sisters of the Skillet, home Economics club at the home of Mrs. Fred Blohm Thursday afternoon.

Her subject was "Youth Hostiles of Germany." Mrs. James Sherman gave the reading "Being Clinicked" and Mrs. Henry Hauck presented her paper on "The Making of Taxon." Members of the Round-table Home Economics club of the city of Seymour were guests at the meeting. Fourteen guests and 13 members were present. Lunch followed the meeting of the club.

The International Fellowship Tea, sponsored by the Ladies Bible class of the Methodist church, postponed from January 25, will be held at 6:30 Tuesday evening. A program will follow the tea.

The mid-week Union lenten service will be held at the Methodist church at 7:45 Wednesday evening.

To cope with a shortage of farm hands, the German government has decided to bring in about 100,000 agricultural workers from neighboring countries.

What's New at the Library

Appleton has produced many famous figures in various lines of endeavor, prominent among them Dr. J. B. Murphy, called the most colorful figure American medicine has produced, who is the subject of a recently published book entitled "J. B. Murphy: Stormy Petrel of Surgery" by Loyal Davis, now available at Appleton Public Library. Dr. Murphy who began life in a log cabin a few miles from Appleton and ended in a palatial mansion on Chicago's Gold Coast, attained great success as a surgeon and made his fame secure through his invention of the Murphy button for intestinal suturing. He worked his way through school and medical school, went to Germany to learn from the men who were transforming medicine from Shamanism to a science, and emerged eventually as president of the American Medical association. The author brings Dr. Murphy to life not only in his great moments—in the operating room, on his way to treat Theodore Roosevelt after the attempted assassination, perfecting the Murphy button—but in his intimate moments at home and among his patients.

A copy of the play, "Susan and God" by Rachel Crothers in which Gertrude Lawrence is appearing in New York has been received at the library. It was recommended highly by such critics as John Mason Brown, Richard Watts and Brooks Atkinson.

A widely known authority on corrective gymnastics, Dorothy Nye has developed systems of exercise designed to develop poise and grace, to reduce weight, to correct faults of posture and make one feel and look well. She describes these exercises in a book entitled "New Bodies for Old."

With signs of spring everywhere, amateur gardeners and flower lovers begin to think about digging into the earth and starting their gardens for this year. Two new books are available at the library to aid these people, one entitled "The Gardener's First Year" by Alfred Bates tells how to make a garden in full bloom the first year and deals with preparation of the soil, types of flower beds, soils and fertilizers, sowing the seed, plants for shade and sun, shrubs, annuals and perennials and the like. The other, "The Gladioli" by A. C. Beal specializes to meet the needs of practical and amateur growers of this flower and flower lovers generally.

How contemporary decoration has adapted itself to the changes in styles of living of the last decade is told in "Decorations for the Small Home" by Derek Patmore. The book points out that the era of the small house has taken the place of the old-fashioned way of living in large rambling houses, and illustrations help to bring out the ideas.

"A Poet's Life" by Harrie Monroe is the autobiography of the woman who founded the magazine, Poetry, which became the focus of the most brilliant literary movements the United States has ever seen. Born in Chicago of pioneer stock, she saw the city grow from a frontier town to a world metropolis. She brings her narrative down to 1922, and two later chapters were written by Morton Dauwen Zabel, associate editor of the magazine from 1923 to 1936 and editor until the fall of 1937.

The increasing number of music festivals and of musical organizations of all kinds throughout the country, the federal music project and competitions and commissions have broadened the general interest in American composition, and radio, recorded music and electricity have enlarged the horizon. A summary of 25 years progress in American composition is given in "Composers in America" by Claire Raphael Reis, which includes portraits of the important composers in the field of serious music today.

Attempting to unravel the economic tangle in which the world has become involved within the last 10 years, Harry Scherman in his book, "The Promises Men Live By," takes the reader through every area of economic activity from the simplest, purchase by a child to those complexities in which modern states are involved, in money and government finance and the business cycle.

"Out of Africa" by Isak Dinesen tells of the author's life on her plantation in Kenya, of the ways of the country and the natives, the beauty of the Ngong Hills and the coffee trees in blossom, of her guests from the Prince of Wales to Knudsen, the old charcoal burner, of primitive festivals and big game.

Two new travel guide books are on the shelves at the library this week. One is "Yellowstone National Park" by Hiram H. Crittenden who laid out and constructed much of the highway system now in use in the park, about 400 miles of mountain roads. The first edition of his book on Yellowstone appeared in 1935 and it was reprinted and revised many times. His widow and daughter edited editions appearing in 1924 and 1927. The other, "Grand Canyon Country" by Tilton and Taylor gives a description and pictures of the famous scenic spot of this country.

"I'll tell you the difference I have found in cigarettes!"

SAYS WILBUR SHAW

record-smashing auto racing driver to BEN E. WILBUR, radio announcer

"You're known as a great Camel smoker, Mr. Shaw. Are they really so different from other cigarettes?"

"Yes, Ben, I think that Camels are a lot different. That's why they're the racing drivers' favorite cigarette. You see, a cigarette has to have something out of the ordinary to score such a hit with fellows like us. As I always say, there are so many things that mean a great deal in smoking. One big angle that carries weight with me is that Camels agree with me! I've smoked a good many thousands of Camels in the past 10 years, so I know that from experience."

SHAW is saying how important healthy nerves are to a racing car driver. "The fact that Camels don't get on my nerves scores a big hit with me," he points out.

"IT'S YOUR MOVE, Cathleen," says Wilbur to Mrs. Shaw, his checkers partner. His own move is to light up a Camel—"for digestion's sake."

"Camels agree with me"

Camels are a matchless blend of finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS—Turkish and Domestic

"Camels are preferred by the tobacco growers, who know leaf tobacco from the ground up"

according to the observation of tobacco planters themselves

"I'VE BEEN planting tobacco for twenty years," says Harry C. King, a successful grower. "Camel bought the choice lots of my last tobacco crop—paid more for my best leaf tobacco. So I know they use finer, more expensive tobaccos in Camel cigarettes. That's one mighty good reason why my cigarette is Camel."

THOMAS MIDDLETON and his twin brother James have been growing tobacco for 14 years. "The Camel people bought up my best tobacco last year," Tom Middleton says. "They have for 12 years. When anyone talks about finer, more expensive tobaccos, that means Camels to me. I smoke 'em—my brother smokes 'em—and so do most of us around here who grow and know tobacco."

J. E. Jenkins, veteran tobacco grower. "Camel bought all the top grades. It just shows that the Camel people make sure to get the choice lots of tobacco. I prefer Camels every time. I know what those finer, more expensive tobaccos in Camel cigarettes mean to smokers."

LABOR LIVES BECAUSE IT LEARNS

From every point of the compass Labor has turned with disgust at the grisly Moscow affairs but in few instances will be found a better statement than that written by James Maxton, England's radical labor leader, in the following words addressed to Stalin:

"We cannot believe that you realize how much harm, how much incalculable, irreparable damage you are inflicting through this ruthless terror upon the cause of the entire international working class and the ideals of Socialism."

"The most bitter foes of the Soviet system could never have done as much to shake the faith of the class conscious workers and to cause doubt and demoralization in their ranks."

Mr. Maxton is sufficiently versed in the dark pages of human history to realize if he would only detach himself from worthless theories that Moscow is in fact running perfectly true to form. It is only doing exactly what better informed people the world over knew that it would do. It is not out of step with either history or experience. It has lived up to its pattern.

Look over its program fearlessly and impartially. Turn to other pages in history that have presented similar programs. Your travels may take you far. That is a good sign. It is to the credit of the human race. You will have to spread your investigations over many countries and many centuries. But you will find ample authority. The evidence, if you will use your eyes and look, piles itself up mountain high. And it is all the same way.

You can take a period prior to the Christian Era or you can become modern and take France but a few generations ago. You can look in on barbarism or select what is called civilization. But everywhere you will find that Socialism swings the same sword, cuts heads in the same fashion, wrecks advancement with the same ruthlessness, seeks to destroy church and family and uproot all the finer sensibilities of humanity, creates, in short, a slaughter house, but does it all under the pretense and promise of brotherly love.

Heaven save us from that sort of fraternity!

PLAGUE OF TAXES

A dealer in livestock feed who lives in Hammond, Ind., and has warehouses in 28 states, gets publicity by an eloquent protest against taxation. He is "sick and tired of taxes," he says, and is going out of business. "They have piled about 50 different varieties of taxes on me; and with all the trouble of reporting them there isn't any use of continuing any more."

He is tired not only of paying taxes, but of paying $7,000 a year for clerks, auditors and attorneys to keep his tax reports straight. He lists among the trouble-making imposts "state unemployment taxes, state social security, state personal property, state franchise and state store taxes, city and county taxes, federal, capital, and about two score other kinds of taxes." And as a crowning injury: "The state of Indiana, where my main plants are located, has passed a law taking from the concern one-fourth of 1 per cent on all goods sold in the state or outside. I don't object to paying such taxes on goods sold within the state but I do object to paying Indiana taxes on goods sold in interstate or foreign business."

So he is going to clean up all business matters and then take a long trip "probably to some land where politicians do not know so much about taxes." And he adds: "A lot of other business men may be forced to follow in my footsteps unless something is done about taxes."

But alas! Where can the sufferer find such a Utopia today? Bad as such things are in the United States, they are worse in almost any other country where a business refugee would be likely to land.

NEW WORLD UNION

It is interesting and rather pleasant to see the republics of Colombia and Santo Domingo sponsoring a plan for a formal "Association of American Nations" to put our neighborhood relations on a more practical basis.

It would establish closer bonds than those of the present Pan-American Union, and is to be considered at the conference of that body to be held in Lima, Peru, next December. The feeling seems to be growing throughout this hemisphere that in the present state of the world it is desirable for all Americans to snuggle a little more closely together.

The satisfaction of our own statesmen, however, may be modified by another suggestion in the plan referred to, which proposes closer cooperation with the League of Nations at Geneva. The North American tendency is toward a separate New World League of our own.

CRUEL SPORTS

The picture magazines have been showing photos of the Mexican Charro, touted as "one of the most colorful and ceremonious of the world's sportsmen, a superb horseman and steadfast upholder of the customs and traditions of his romantic country."

His costume and environment seems romantic, all right, but some of us can't see much romance in his favorite sport, the jaripeo, which seems to consist mainly in twisting a bull's tail. "The mounted Charro pursues a steer through a chute 100 yards long and, before the end is reached, must overtake the animal and jerk it from its feet."

That doesn't seem very much of an improvement over the bull fight, in which the poor beast is tortured with spear-thrusts, red flags and general bedevilment until, near death from fright and pain, it is dispatched with a sword.

It is strange that Spaniards and nations of Spanish blood should seem to find so much pleasure in cruel things. Can't they learn to enjoy our Anglo-Saxon games—baseball, football and so on?

INTERSTATE TRADE WALLS

There is a curious tariff war raging in the Middle West. Ohio, Michigan, Missouri, Illinois and Indiana are engaged in a bitter conflict, each setting up discriminatory laws against one or more of the others. An observer calls it "interstate comic opera," but the difficulty has serious possibilities.

The immediate cause of the trouble is beer, but the situation is one that might spread and become economic civil war. Indiana is said to have begun the row by establishing "port of entry" regulations which Michigan brewers considered injurious to their industry. Michigan met the attack not by negotiation but by retaliation, excluding Indiana beer. The other states involved are going in for taxes on distributors, license charges for trucks, and other things of the sort.

Suppose this tariff policy were extended to foodstuffs, manufactured articles, clothing, and so on. The injury to American prosperity and the menace to government would be incalculable.

Are the states not forbidden by the Constitution to discriminate against each other in this way? The good judgment of their own authorities and private citizens should stop the foolishness before it becomes worse.

INVASION BY STEALTH

International aggression today, as Walter Lippmann notes, isn't merely military. Most of it is commercial and propagandist. The invader slips into the coveted country by trade, radio and social contacts. Then some fine morning the host-nation wakes up to discover that it has a different form of government, or at least a government functioning, nobody quite knows how or why, in a different spirit, according to an alien set of rules.

There is no shooting—just an infiltration of ideas. But it may never be the same nation again, or the same system.

We have seen how this form of intrusion operates in Austria, particularly. The technique is now being applied in Czechoslovakia. The work in China and Spain has been more crude and old-fashioned.

Let it be observed that the slick, new type of expansion appears in our Western Hemisphere as well as the Eastern. It is by such a process that a system suggesting Old World Fascism, in spite of polite denials, has been established in Brazil. And Mexico seems to be succumbing to a social revolution that looks like ancient Aztec collectivism trying to catch up with Trotsky.

Opinions Of Others

A $200,000 ECONOMY
A change standardizing travel regulations and appropriating one sum instead of three for travel by agents of the Department of Commerce, Justice and Labor, results in a saving of $200,000 a year. Congressman Thomas S. McMillan (S. C.) in bringing the bill appropriating for these departments before the house from the Appropriations committee, pridefully points to the economy.

That's a large sum, small as it seems when total federal costs are seven and eight billions a year. It argues that improved system, stiffer regulation and closer scrutiny of appropriations in congress can do much to bring down the total. Duplicative, unnecessary, extravagant travel is likely to occur under all government agencies unless vigilant administration prevents it.

How about the travel costs of congressmen? If they follow the usual course, they will vote themselves 20 cents a mile each way, between home and Washington, for the expenses of attending the present session. They did it for the expenses of attending the special session, which virtually merged into the regular session.—Detroit News.

LENT

Lent, a word that has come to be associated with fasting and self-denial, originally meant only the time of lengthening days, springtime. Observance of Lent once was confined to certain churches.

But a fine spirit of toleration and inter-church co-operation came to Detroit soon after the close of the World war when the Detroit Council of Churches was formed and the practice of holding daily devotional services was established.

There is no real emotional or spiritual conflict between the natural optimism and joy of springtime and the intensified spiritual consciousness of the spirit of Lent. Religious in-

LETTER TO STOO

Dear Stoo:

Last year you looked pleased when you took over Post-Mortem while I was away and I thought that you would be just as pleased this year when I asked you to do it again. True, you took it all with your chin up and without flinching, but I suspect from that sad look in your eyes that maybe there is something about this business which you do not find all to the good.

Just think of the opportunity this gives you, my lad. Thousands upon thousands of people grabbing for the paper in breathless anticipation each night to see the brightest spot in the entire P-C, the gayest, most joyful feature of them all. Yeah. The comic page.

Anyway, pal, don't take it so hard. After all, there's nothing like running a daily column to make you really appreciate your childhood days and bring real relief when you come home to the little woman at night. No sir.

Well, I am not going to give you any instructions, knowing full well that I can throw my own suggestions in the wastebasket.

HOWEVER, I do want to warn you that the high morals of the press must be maintained at all costs.

If any of the moneyed interests come in and make you an offer of say ten or twenty thousands dollars to suppress some great, burning truth, or want to give you only half the story, by all means

TURN 'EM DOWN.

Remember, Stoo, an unsullied name is worth far, far, more than mere dollars.

If anyone comes along with an offer of a twelve cylinder car or a house and lot just for the sake of cheap publicity, TURN 'EM DOWN.

If any of the theatres offer you free annual passes to get you to lay off their films, TURN 'EM DOWN.

Yessir, no matter what the struggle with your weaker self, you simply MUST TURN 'EM DOWN.

Get their phone numbers and propositions for me. This, after all, is MY racket.

A Verse for Today

By Anne Campbell

MAPLE SYRUP TIME

Father would build a shelter
Of logs in early Spring.
The little squirrels would watch him
With curious whispering.
A startled fawn would scamper
To some more peaceful glade.
The birds, with lyric protests,
Would fly from him, dismayed.

When all was ready, Mother
And I would leave the house.
And walk across the meadows
To where the Maple boughs
Were bending to discover
Their trunks were warm with sap.
Already pails were hanging
Beneath each home-made tap.

Before the shelter, Father
Had swung a heavy crane.
And fastened the iron kettle . . .
I whistled from the lane.
Our Shepherd dog came running
To guide us to the wood.
Where with a brisk fire burning,
My jovial Father stood:

All day we boiled and sugared . . .
The twilight's misty blue
Fell softly to remind us
That there were chores to do.
Upon the homeward journey,
Held fast by Father's hand,
I saw the first faint breaking
Of sunset on the land. . .

Five monograms symbolic of "Fox Terrors," the slogan chosen by Appleton High school to identify its athletic teams, have been submitted by art course students under the direction of Miss Dorothy Krippner, art supervisor, and one will be chosen by the student body. Those submitted were made by Norman Zanzig, Harold Blessman, Clement Parker, Arlin Jenner-jahn and Gordon Schultz.

Mr. and Mrs. Mowry Smith, Menasha, have returned from a several weeks southern trip. Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Dowling have returned to Neenah after a visit with Dr. C. C. Del Marcell in California and Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Gilbert and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Shepard have returned from a trip to Florida.

Mrs. Percy Fullinwider was elected a delegate to the national convention of Mu Phi Upsilon, national honorary musical society, at Denver in June at a meeting of the Appleton alumnae club of the society last week at the home of Miss Barbara Kamps, Seventh street. Mrs. Norbert Verbrick was elected alternate delegate.

Mr. and Mrs. John Wechler of Oshkosh were guests of Judge John Goodland Sunday. Dr. John Faville has left for Peoria, Ill., where he will be one of the speakers at the banquet of the Men's Sunday evening club of the Congregational church of which he was the former pastor.

Mrs. E. A. Pride, Tomahawk, formerly Miss Elizabeth Clark, is the guest of Mrs. C. B. Pride.

Henry Hegner has placed an order with William Groth for a new motorcycle. About 200 persons were killed and many millions of dollars in property was destroyed by a cyclone which swept over Omaha, Neb., yesterday. More than 700 persons were injured and fully 2,000 were rendered homeless.

The Danube river is 1740 miles long and flows through seven countries.

Influence rightfully is coming to harmonize helpful self-discipline with true enjoyment of the best aspects of living. So likewise the common brotherhood of all who find help in religious exercises and culture, finds encouragement in the gathering of people of all churches and of no church for the daily lenten services. It is well to make this lenten period one not only of sacrifice and abstinence, but of helpfulness and hope and joy.—Detroit News.

BRADY BABY BOOK

The Brady Baby Book has now gone thru three editions. First edition was issued 'way back when. Second edition, revised and enlarged, appeared in 1936, under the title, The Brady Better Baby Book, in lemon yellow cover.

Today we are happy to announce The Bigger Brady Better Baby Book, just issued, still in lemon yellow cover, again revised and enlarged, and we are offering the first printing of 10,000 copies free. There's just one catch in this offer, and by cracker you had better mind it or you will be disappointed. The one thing you must do to get a copy of this brand new, up to snuff counsellor and guide for dabbles in the baby business is this: You must ask for it in your words (not in a clipping from my column) and you must inclose with your request a stamped envelope bearing your address. Of course, you may say whatever else you wish to say in your letter, but do not ask me to include anything else than the Bigger Brady Better Baby Book in the answer. By complying with these terms, you can save yourself postage—a one-cent stamp will be sufficient on the envelope which is to bring the Bigger Brady Better Baby Book to you.

Indeed They Are People
Nowadays babies are people, important people. Today more than ever it takes a baby to make a home. With the spread of the "birth control" idea the home as an institution has lost some of its wholesome influence on American life. Right now the country should hail the movement to have at least one baby in every home, and the best way to achieve that national recovery spirit is to provide as a patriotic duty an adequate care for the mother before, during and after the birth of her baby and a minimum monthly payment to her for a year after the birth of her baby—so that every mother and every baby in the country might be assured as good care as a mother and a baby should have.

A fundamental reform sorely needed in the public school system of America is a course in the care of the baby in the grade school and the high school, and every boy and every girl should be compelled to take such instruction in school. The ignorance of young parents about the most elementary care and feeding of infants is appalling, especially when we observe how much the young folk today know about sex matters and so-called "birth control." This ignorance, responsibility for which rests squarely on the shoulders of the educational authorities, unnecessarily handicaps the early growth and development of infants and children and sometimes seriously threatens or at least shortens life. Children past six years of age seldom believe in Santa Claus, fairies or the stork nowadays. Would it not be well if the instruction of children were carried on by the common school from the time when the children cease believing in myths?

Dr. William Brady, 265 El Camino, South, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Your Birthday

"ARIES"

If March 22 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10 a. m., until 12 noon; from 2 to 4 p. m., and from 8 to 10 p. m. The danger periods are from 8 to 10 a. m.; from 4 to 6 p. m., and from 10 p. m., until midnight.

Impulses, rather than logic, will be responsible for most of this day's actions. It will not pay to be "brave" for fear of rejection, on the part of the average individual to recent advice, as well as dictatorial orders may prevail. Irritable women will appear decidedly at a disadvantage, and handicap themselves seriously in social and commercial endeavors. Many queer facts may be presented this day, taxing the imagination and credulity of the ordinary person. Do not allow pride to stand in your way for it will make enemies. It might be well to resort to tactful, rather than forceful methods in an effort to accomplish anything in matters involving financial transactions or the fulfillment of an obligation. Married and engaged couples, as well as prospective fiancées, should be careful how they express themselves this day, because many misconstructions are apt to be placed upon a poor choice of words. If a woman and March 22 is your birthday, you ought to have an unusual amount of style and grace, and a fluency of speech. You should be deeply interested in literary pursuits, theatrical topics and social activities. Your sympathetic nature makes you easily moved by the troubles of your friends or relatives. There may be times when you are overly self-conscious and permit yourself to be too easily embarrassed. You might have an aptitude for writing, painting, interior decorating, singing, acting or selling. Your matrimonial prospects for a happy and prosperous future appear to be unusually good.

The child born on March 22, has, generally, keen intuition, a very active mind and a vivacious manner. Nimble-footed this youngster ought to excel in many forms of sport.

If a man and March 22 is your natal day, you must not have your finger in too many pies, for diversified interests might involve you in an unnecessary amount of worry. As a botanist, geologist, actor, playwright, author, broker, financier, manufacturer or sales representative you might become very prosperous.

Seen And Heard In New York

BY GEORGE TUCKER

New York—Burlesque is dead, killed by an over-dose of publicity and politicians, and while the remains are being suitably buried, let us tarry a moment and give thanks to H. M. Alexander, who autopsied the corpse and wrote a fascinating look on what made burlesque tick.

This is a slight well-knit tome entitled "Strip Tease—The Vanquished Art of Burlesque." It is at once a handbook and an elegy. He must have dug through a hundred old trunks, interviewed scores of chorus girls pinned the bug on all the big producers. Here are some of the fascinating but little known facts about a form of theatrical entertainment that no longer exists:

Until five years ago burlesque was a hit-and-miss proposition, then came Gypsy Rose Lee and the strip tease profession was in full flower. . . . Good strip teasers earn from $80 to $150 a week. . . . The first strip tease was Salome, who asked for the head of John the Baptist.

The burlesque show always chose a risqué title, preferably a parody on some legitimate show. For instance, a week after the musical "At Home Abroad" opened on Broadway, burlesque came out with "A Broadway at Home." Shakespeare's "Anthony and Cleopatra" became "Anatomy and Cleopatra." . . . The "Folies Bergere" became the "Folies Bras-siere."

Burlesque also had its own lingo, and in back-stage vernacular anything cacky was smutty or dirty. . . . If a skull was a funny face, a comic or a chorus girl showed small aptitude in learning lines, he was a liver-head. . . . A lush was a drunk. . . . A stooge who took the falls was a Third Banana.

The big bosses of the burlesque business at the time the commissioners summarily executed it were the Minsky brothers—Billy, Abe, Herbert and Morton. . . . They are college men and have been profiled by The New Yorker. They lured the high hats to their theaters and made a practice of dropping tickets at the Harvard Club and similar places.

If a girl's dress was low in the back it was "an understating differential." . . . The "singers" were the tease dancers themselves. . . . Being busy, they seldom had time to shop, and so a routine of salesmen regularly called at all the theaters—One sold only the rhinestone gauds, which at conclusion of a dance became the sole bit of wearing apparel left, another handled the lace pants so popular in burlesque. . . . A third carried the incidentals that chorus girls have a yen for. . . . Mr. Alexander has really got something here. His book points out the axis on which the whole industry turned. . . . It is a snappy

A Bystander In Washington

BY PRESTON GROVER

Washington—Not all the sore noggin's resulting from Hitler's plunging were confined to central Europe. Washington had its quota.

A trio of newspaper men called on Edgar L. G. Prochnik, navy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary from Austria to the United States. Austria, a small country since the War, hasn't supported much of a legation here and the news men found Mr. Prochnik answering his own telephone and generally up in the air and down in the mouth.

After all, it is no small thing to go to bed one night as an honored Austrian minister and awake next morning a German subject or no particular importance. Mr. Prochnik's ministerial life began (and perhaps ends at auction. He came here immediately after the World war and his first job was to liquidate the Austro-Hungarian embassy. Hungary was no longer a part of it. Now, 20 years later, he is to do it again.

We don't know just what the effects of a minister bring at auction, but this is not the world's best place to sell them. Curio dealers are loaded with ceremonial swords, odd-shaped tables and rugs truly or claiming to be oriental, not to mention more earthy things, such as alien beds and kitchen ware. Foreign people are forever moving away and wanting to sell fast.

There seemed no certainty just what would happen to Mr. Prochnik. Those European countries usually take pretty fair care of their diplomats, even when they fail to draw a hand in the new international deal. Best guess was that he might get a pension. He is about 55.

State Department Silence

The state department kept a very careful check on its chatter about these things. Secretary Hull opened a post-anschluss press conference by sagely announcing that there was "nothing new" in the Far Eastern situation and that he didn't intend to theorize about central Europe.

Meantime, awaiting out in an ante-room during the press conference was Mr. Vladimir Hruban, E. E. and M. P. (see second paragraph above for explanation) of Czechoslovakia. He looked worried and probably was worried. If you will look at any one of the dozens of newspaper maps now being published you will see at once that Czechoslovakia sticks like a piece of pie into the gaping mouth of the newly expanded German realm. Particularly would it be bad for Mr. Hruban to have to liquidate his ministry also, what with the market being glutted with Austrian ministerial knick-knacks.

Some Capital Guesses

While the state department officially was silent there was discourse aplenty among knowing writers and cogitators who try to work these things out into sensible patterns. Bold these things down as strictly unofficial, but much opinion was afloat that ultimately Germany would bite off a large piece of Czechoslovakia; that England would not do anything about it; that France wouldn't either, since she is not in a position to fight other people's wars; that Russia wouldn't either, with Japan acting so belligerently in the Pacific; and that Italy would be in the same desperate position in which it found itself in 1914, allied with Germany but quaking in her boots at such an alliance.

picture of what really went on behind the scenes, and more important, it is darn entertaining reading.

41 Candidates in Field for 16 City Posts at Kaukauna

Today Is Deadline for Filing Nomination Papers

Kaukauna — With today the last opportunity for the filing of nomination papers for the April 5 election, the political set-up finds 41 candidates aspiring for 16 offices. The last day for filing expense accounts with the city clerk is March 29, and the last day for voters' registrations is March 26.

The hottest contest has developed over three vacancies on the board of school commissioners, with six candidates seeking the posts. Mrs. Joseph C. McCarty and William F. Hass, whose terms expire, are up for reelection, and are opposed by T. A. Ryan, Mrs. Mildred Cleland, Joseph Siebers and Emmet J. Rohan. The third vacancy to be filled is that of Lewis F. Nelson, who resigned last spring to run for Mayor in the special election.

All but one of the five aldermen whose 2-year terms expire are running for reelection. The exception is W. H. Cooper, Second ward representative, who recently announced that he will not be a candidate for another term. Al Hartzheim and Gordon Luedtke are opponents for the Second ward post. If Luedtke is elected the ward will be represented by a father and son, as Otto M. Luedtke is the other alderman from the district.

4-Way Contest
Jule Mertes, First ward incumbent, will have the heaviest aldermanic opposition, being opposed by three candidates. Luke Van Lieshout, Chris Kindler, Jr., and Arthur Hoolihan are his opponents.

Frank Femal, Fifth ward incumbent, has two opponents, Sam Rasmussen and Anton Servaes. T. H. Sogge and Raymond Nagel, Third and Fourth ward incumbents, have Jacob Miller and Vernon Despins as opponents.

Twelve persons are seeking the supervisor posts in the five wards. The contest is hottest in the Second ward, where D. B. Delbridge, P. E. Rohan, Leo H. Schmalz and J. C. Mitchell are candidates. Three are running in the First and Third wards, L. J. Faust, Arnold Vander Loop and Merritt J. Black in the First, and A. H. Mayer, M. C. Connors, and Richard Lehrer in the Third. Incumbents in these wards are Black and Mayer. Sylvester Esler, Second ward incumbent, has not filed papers. No opposition is listed for the Third and Fifth ward incumbents, Fred Konrad and Peter Reichel.

3 Seek Mayor's Job
The contest for mayor is the same as a week ago, with Lewis F. Nelson, incumbent, William J. Gantler and Oscar W. Alger on the slate. Lester J. Brenzel and Mrs. Mary Hooyman are unopposed for city clerk and city treasurer.

Harry F. McAndrews, incumbent, and Samuel Miller are candidates for city attorney. This will be the first time the attorney has been elected, formerly being appointed by the mayor.

Three candidates for city assessor complete the election lineup. Joseph H. Dietzler, incumbent, is up for reelection, and will be opposed by Carl G. Trettin and Peter Metz, Sr.

Social Items

Kaukauna—Members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary will be guests of the American Legion Auxiliary at 7:45 tonight at Legion hall. Special entertainment will be provided, cards played, prizes given and refreshments served. Mrs. Carl Hilgenberg is chairman of the affair.

The Catholic Order of Foresters, Holy Cross court No. 309, will meet at 8 o'clock tonight in the church auditorium. The Fox River Valley Forester tournament now running at the Schell alleys will be discussed.

A St. Patrick's party will be held tonight by the Women of the Moose at 7 o'clock in Odd Fellows hall. The third in a series of parties will be held after the meeting for all Women of the Moose and members of the Loyal Order of Moose.

C. Y. O. Squad Defeats Neenah Team, 38 to 26

Kaukauna — The Holy Cross Catholic Youth Organization basketball five defeated the St. Thomas C. Y. O. of Neenah here Saturday night at the high school gymnasium, 38 to 26. The Kaukauna team took a 10 to 6 lead at the end of the quarter, stretched it to 26 to 14 at the half and coasted to a win.

Ed Bloch had five baskets for 10 points to lead the winners, followed by Joe and George Bloch with 8 points apiece. Peterson had 12 points for the visitors.

2 More Health Centers Scheduled in County

Waupaca—Two more child and maternal health centers for Waupaca county, by arrangement with the state board of health, have been scheduled as follows by Miss Estelle M. Jung, county nurse: Thursday, March 31, Iola, public school building, and Friday, April 1, Clintonville, city hall.

Sponsors are the Iola Woman's club and the township woman's organization of Iola, Mrs. P. E. Michalski, chairman, and the Senior Woman's Club of Clintonville, Miss Amelia Metzner, chairman.

Dr. Charlotte Fisk, staff physician of the state board's bureau of maternal and child health, will conduct the two centers, assisted by Miss Jung and members of the sponsoring groups.

Health examinations for well infants and pre-school age children who are accompanied by their mothers, and personal talks on prenatal care for expectant mothers, will be offered.

Altogether at both centers, the registration hours will be 8:30 to 11:30 in the morning and 1 o'clock to 3:30 in the afternoon.

WPA to Build $23,000 Marinette Playground

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau Washington—The President has approved a $23,000 WPA project for the development of a playground in Marinette, according to Congressman George J. Schneider, of Appleton.

Construction of the playground will include the filling in of a stagnant slough adjacent to Menominee river, together with landscaping, grading, and other incidental work. The project is sponsored by the city of Marinette, and on city-owned property.

Following review by the comptroller general, the playground project will be referred to the state administrator for approval and action.

Tom Mooney Thinks He's Great Political Martyr

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

San Francisco—Tom Mooney is a loyal admirer of Josef Stalin. He defends the slaughter of the heretics in Moscow on the ground that they were plotting against the safety of the government, and indorses a government which readily imprisons men for their political beliefs. Therefore, if Mr. Mooney had been treated according to the golden rule in California, he would have been a dead man many years ago. Therefore, also, he would seem to be in honor bound to stay in San Quentin prison as long as he can, a prisoner for his principles, refusing pardon and resisting expulsion by force.

Instead, however, Mr. Mooney constantly demands a pardon and, with the backing of communist organizations and of that element of simple-minded liberals who seduce easily, denounces the state of California for descending to the level of his beloved Moscow. It is confusing, because if Mr. Mooney were consistent he would perceive in his own persecution the first glimmering of the dawn of his cherished beliefs.

It is unlikely that a political prisoner in Moscow would enjoy the guest status that Mr. Mooney occupies in San Quentin prison. He is a special case. He may receive journalists in the visiting room and spend an hour or more arguing the absoluteness of the existing form of government and predicting the early rise of a new system.

As he talked on and on in a quiet voice the only guard in sight was an elderly man who stood off out of earshot, apparently unconcerned with Mr. Mooney's remarks—doubtless an old and monotonous story to the staff by now. There was no screen or any vigilant peering lest he receive saws, weapons or other contraband.

He is a celebrity, and although he calls himself a pure idealist, he expressed no pity for any of the 5,000 murderers, thieves and miscellaneous offenders, guilty or innocent, whose suffering any denial are as painful as his, and in most cases worse. Eugene Debs, with whom Mooney once campaigned, was sorry for all men locked away in cages, but Mooney is self-centered only with the case of Mooney the martyr.

Doesn't Mention His Co-defendant, Billings
Not once in more than an hour did he, on his own initiative, mention the name of his forgotten and neglected co-defendant in the preparedness day bombing case of 1916, Warren K. Billings, who has been in prison as long as he has. If Mooney is innocent so is Billings, but Mooney always received top billing; on the marquee, and now the name of his old partner has been dropped from the publicity entirely.

The only sympathy he could spare from himself was expressed for dynamiters involved in the Los Angeles Times case. He thinks himself a greater martyr than Captain Dreyfus, forgetting, perhaps, that Dreyfus spent his prison years in a foul and distant island settlement under close guard with no means of appealing to public opinion.

Mooney has spent his time in San Francisco, has been allowed to see Mrs. Mooney on the regular visiting days and has been able to ly moved, some of them to tears, by the beauty of the ceremony. Reckless About the Lack of Publicity

He was resentful also of the fact that the demonstrators got little publicity in the papers, either when they ran around the track carrying placards, and shouting, "Free Tom Mooney," or when they were sentenced to six months in jail. Incidentally, none of the placards mentioned Warren Billings, and none of Mooney's disturbers shouted his name.

Whether Mooney is a member of the communist party or not, he is an outspoken revolutionary. He upholds Stalin and denounces Trotsky, whom he holds guilty, without trial, of betraying the revolution. The communists value him as a symbol, and are not at all convinced that it would be good for the revolution to have him free. In prison he is still a martyr. On the outside he would be a graduate martyr, and with his selfishness and vanity might arouse jealousy and quarrels among the comrades.

As far as California is concerned, there should be no question. He may not be innocent, but there is certainly great doubt that he is guilty. The same goes for the forgotten man, Billings. As long as they remain in prison California is rolling in the gutter of Mr. Mooney's spiritual home—Moscow, U. S. S. R.

Author Tells What Men Expect From Weaker Sex

BY DOROTHY DIX

What do men really think about women? What specific qualities do men find attractive in women? How do men want women to treat them? What is the best method of catching and holding one of these elusive animals?

These are the things that women want to know more than anything else in the world, but heretofore they have had no way of finding out. The real attitude of men toward women has been a deep dark secret that they have hidden in the innermost recesses of their souls and so women have been reduced to making guesses at what men like about them that were mostly the wrong answers and playing hunches that failed to win out.

Now, however, the mystery has been solved. At long last a man has broken all the taboos of his tribe and written a book which he calls "The Way to His Heart," in which he tells just what things about women make a hit with men and what leaves them cold. The book reveals how to go about wangling dates from boys and how to camouflage the path to the altar so artfully that the bridegroom won't know he is on his way until he is there.

It is an entertaining and amusing little volume that will doubtless become a sort of debutantes' Bible. For it tells them the things about men that it takes most women until they are 35 to find out. When the information comes too late to do them any good. Such as, for instance, that even the most timid and mousy of men, who are so afraid of women they are ready to run if one shakes a skirt at them, want to be thought gay, lothario and perfect devils among the fair sex that none can resist, and that nothing attracts a man to a woman so much as for her to be easily amused and enjoy things.

Also, he warns women against the suicidal folly of ever letting men find out that they know more than men do; or play a better game of bridge or golf, or draw down a better salary in business. Even in conversation they must "assist" instead of leading it, and make the man feel that he thought of the thought first and that they are merely following along in his wake, picking up the pearls of wisdom that he scattered.

Likewise, he advises women to watch their steps and study a man's moods in dealing with him, so that they may know just how to always strike the right note with him and not struggle up to him for a little petting when he has had a bad dinner, or been to a dull party, or lost too much money at cards, and all that he wants to do is to knock somebody's block off instead of kiss.

Now these revelations of the workings of a man's mind and affections as they pertain to females are highly interesting. But the trouble with them is that a woman would have to be a mind-reader, a prophetess and a self-abnegating saint to put them into practice. Few girls, alas, possess these gifts or have any occult power by which they can tell whether when a man invites them to an expensive night club they should go along and drink champagne, or say "Oh, no, let's go to the movies instead and have a soft drink afterward at the drug store." They don't even know whether the yearning look they see in a man's eyes means love, or that he has missed his lunch. So how?

This isn't dumbness on woman's part. It is just that nobody knows what a man thinks about women, or what he wants in women, or what he admires in women, because he doesn't know himself. Probably there never was a man who hadn't his ideal woman figured out to the last hair on her head. She was always going to be beautiful and intelligent and domestic and thrifty and meek and mild, and have a lit-

Says Bid of 5 Diamonds Was Wrong

By ELY CULBERTSON

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: The following hand recently was played in a friendly game of ordinary contract bridge. The question arose as to whether or not the final bid was a legitimate sacrifice bid or a long gamble to save game. This was the hand:

WEST		EAST
♠ A	♠ K	♠ Q	♠ 8
♥ J	♥ 9	♥ 10	♥ 5
♦ K	♦ J	♦ 6	♦ 5
♣ A	♣ Q	♣ 3	♣ 8

South

♠ A	♠ 7	♠ 5	♠ 4
♥ A	♥ K	♥ 6	♥ 4
♦ A	♦ 9	♦ 8	♦ 7
♣ A	♣ 7	♣ 6	♣ 5

"West opened the bidding with four diamonds, North passed, East passed, and South, not wanting to be shut out of a possible game, bid four spades. West then bid five diamonds and North bid five spades. East and South passed, and West then bid six diamonds. North passed, East passed, and South doubled.

"South took the ace of spades, the ace-king of hearts, ace of diamonds, and, on the club play from South through West, the club finesse was taken and lost to North's king. The contract was set four tricks.

"South believed that West's bidding was entirely too reckless in view of the hand he (South) held, the support given his hand by North, and the fact that East continually passed and therefore, could not reasonably have been expected to hold any of the missing aces or kings.

"We would appreciate your opinion regarding the proper time to use a sacrifice bid and if it was warranted in the hand above.

West's opening bid cannot be criticized, but his later bidding was not admirable. For that matter, I do not thoroughly approve South's four spade bid. It was somewhat too dangerous for my taste. Holding South's hand I would use the "optional" double. Admittedly, this convention should be based on at least three cards in all the unbid suits, but I would rather shade this requirement, in the hope that my partner could respond with hearts, thus risk everything on finding spade support. As it happens, North would have responded with spades anyway, but this was pure luck.

West's five diamond bid was inexcusable! His opening preemptive bid had been the launching of a certain plan of attack and defense. His partner was immediately informed of the general lay of the land and could take appropriate action after the four spade bid reached him. For all West knew East might be waiting with an ax for the four spade bid. The mere fact that he had passed to four diamonds was no indication that he could not take care of the opponents' bids.

Thus West took it upon himself to decide the combined holdings of himself and partner, a feat beyond the ability of the greatest player. This was West's real error. His later bid of six diamonds was not nearly as bad because, by that time, East had had the opportunity to double five spades and had failed to act.

TOMORROW'S HAND
East, dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

TIP FOR BAKERS
Be careful not to fill baking dishes too full. Escalloped foods, rice puddings and fondues need about two inches of rising space. Foods made with baking powder, soda, cream of tartar or egg whites require at least three inches.

BACKING FOR OILCLOTH
Tack several thicknesses of heavy cloth or paper over the corners of the table before covering it with new oilcloth. The recovering job will then be easier and will look much neater.

toast. Cover with remaining slices and cut into halves.

Broiled Platter De Luxe
1 pound beef 1 teaspoon minced onions
1 cup crumbs 1 banana
1 teaspoon salt 1 cup jelly
1 teaspoon 3 cooked onions
paprika 3 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon minced parsley
Mix meat with crumbs, salt, paprika, parsley and minced onions. Shape into four cakes. Arrange in a shallow baking dish. Dip bananas in the jelly and place beside the meat cakes. Add onions. Sprinkle with the butter which has been melted. Let broil for 15 minutes.

Filling For Tarts
2 cups seeded red-2-3 cup granulated sugar
2 tablespoons 1 cup cherry juice
1 tablespoon 2 tablespoons lemon juice
Mix cherries with flour, lemon juice and sugar. Add rest of ingredients. Cook slowly until thick. Cool and pour into baked tart cases.

Star Uses Iced Almond Oil for Her Complexion

Everyone in Hollywood wonders what Olympe Bradna does to keep her rose-petal complexion. She attributes it to iced almond oil.

BY ELSIE PIERCE
That almond oil may not be a new beauty trick, but it is one of the best and safest. A new star on Hollywood's horizon prefers it pure and aged for two years in a wooden barrel or keg.

And this part of the routine is new and news. She keeps it in an atomizer in the icebox, believe it or not, and sprays her throat, arms and face with it after each cleansing. Used ice-cold the oil serves as a stimulating and invigorating treatment; and after the spraying a gentle patting over the skin with the oil gives the complexion a velvety finish.

Well, here's a new way to use your atomizer.

White for Youth
White, chiffer for brunettes is recommended for those who wish to stress extreme youth. Of course, simplicity is part of the bargain for nothing is more effective than simplicity in the association with youth.

But, black, glittering black in an evening dress, with accents of fur and jewels will add some fifteen years to your appearance—and if you can stand it, that's fine. In addition to adding years, it will add a very worldly look.

Mantillas for Dramatic Effect
One Hollywood designer who dislikes veils predicts, however, that the dramatic value of the mantilla will insure its positive popularity in high style circles. Look for it with seductive evening gowns and smart, upswep hair-dos.

Pink has invaded Hollywood. Pink tulle, frothy with ruffles, plays an important part in one picture.

And an indestructible quality in a new iridescent, starched organdie eliminates the problems of wrinkles and predicts success for this material, this coming summer.

If you would like some new color notes for yourself, send self-addressed, stamped (3-cent) envelope and describe the color of your skin, eyes and hair.

Facts About the Pacific

When I left Yokohama I started upon a non-stop voyage across the North Pacific. The trip to British Columbia is about 4,300 miles long, and usually takes from nine to 12 days.

Many liners go by a southward route in order to call at Hawaii. I wanted to visit Hawaii, but gave up the plan to save time. With a stop at Hawaii, a trip to North America takes several days longer.

The eruptions kept on happening and today a mountain in Hawaii rises more than two and a half miles above sea level. The height of this volcanic mountain, from the sea bottom to the top of the highest peak, is close to six miles.

There are so many other islands, and island groups, in the Pacific that it would take hundreds of words just to give their names. The East Indies New Zealand, the Philippines and the islands of Japan are the best known.

Near the island of Mindanao (in the Philippine group) is what has been called "the deepest spot in the world." The water there goes down more than six and a half miles. It is about half a mile deeper than the extremely deep place east of the main island of Japan.

The bottom of the Pacific rises and rolls very much like dry land. There are places in mid-ocean where under-water mountains rise nearly to the surface.

The depth of the Pacific ocean, if we take a general average, is about two and a half miles. That is half a mile deeper than the average depth of the Atlantic.

WEDDING LETTER

Dear Mrs. Post: Neither my fiancé nor I have a church of our own and yet we would like to have our wedding in church and not at some magistrate's office. When a bride-to-be finds herself in this situation, what is there left for her to do?

Answer: It is not necessary to have joined a protestant church in order to ask a minister to marry you. You of course go to see the clergyman of which ever church you like best; that is, the church to which you perhaps occasionally go and might some day want to join.

Dear Mrs. Post: When the bride and groom wait at the back of church after the ceremony to receive the good wishes of the congregation as they pass out of the church, are they supposed to receive alone, or may the attendants stand with them, and the mothers?

In our case we are having only the immediate families at a reception so that guests will have no chance of meeting the groom's mother and his sister who is the attendant, both of whom are strangers in town.

Answer: The same people who would receive if there were to be a reception can always stand at the back of the church with the bride and groom, and speak to the congregation, but there would not be any regular receiving line under such circumstances. Maybe I can explain this better by saying the bride and groom would be standing nearer to the line of the departing congregation. The others would stand a little distance away, and not together in a line, so that people could see them and have a few words with those whom they know especially well, but not file by a reception line in a queue. In your case, your mother, with the groom's mother and sister, would stand a little apart in a group of three, this would encourage the more intimate friends to come up and shake hands with her and give her an opportunity of introducing them to the groom's mother and sister. People who know the families slightly simply shake hands with the bride and groom and pass on out of the church.

Dear Mrs. Post: I am dressing in white and wearing a veil, but having no attendants at all except a young niece for flower girl. This is the only way I can prevent making a host of hurt friends. My fiancé is having a best man and at least four, or quite possibly six, ushers. Because there are no bridesmaids in the procession, will it be better not to have the ushers walk up the aisle? In this case where do they wait?

Answer: It will be entirely proper to have the ushers walk up the aisle followed by your little flower girl and you, last.

Old Gardener Says:

BY E. I. FARRINGTON

Strawberry plants should be set out as early as the ground can be worked, which means when a little soil, squeezed in the hand, will crumble readily and not remain a sticky mass. Up to the present time experts have always said that strawberry plants should be set so that the crown will be just even with the surface. Now, however, some of them are advocating deeper planting, which shows that there is always something to be learned. In any event the spot, where strawberries are to be grown, must be well drained and it should be land which has been cultivated for a year or two. The plants should be set 16 inches apart in the rows. Fairfax and Dorset are two, particularly good, new kinds.

My Neighbor Says—

It takes a full year or more for a good sized tree to become firmly imbedded in the ground. For this reason it should be well protected and supported to withstand the buffeting of heavy winds.

Rubberized cretonne if pasted around an unsightly wash stand will cover ugly plumbing and make a bathroom attractive.

If clothes and hair brushes become very dirty wash with water in which a little borax has been mixed. Dip brushes into water and wash with another brush covered with a light coating of soap. Never soak in water.

Always leave enough hangers in your guest room, and also a pin-cushion with several sizes of safety pins a needle and thread.

BUTTER BALL HINTS

Rinse butter paddles in boiling water, then in cold water and place them in a bowl of cold water—before you start to make butter balls. Cut butter into pieces an inch square and about a third of an inch thick. Chill the squares in water. Put one pat of butter on a paddle. Shape it by rolling it with the other paddle. Chill until serving time.

TEA TIDBIT

Sprinkle thinned, candied zinger over chop biscuit dough. Then spread the combination with soft butter. Cut into strips a fourth of an inch wide and two inches long. Bake quickly. Serve hot.

Innocent Needn't Suffer For Wrongdoing of Others

BY ANGELO PATRI

Did you ever stop to think how much trouble we parents and teachers make for ourselves by scolding perfectly good children for the wrongdoing of others?

On the way home from school in the afternoon two boys begin throwing stones. A stone goes through the window of a near-by house. The angry owner telephones the school principal and asks him if he cannot manage to teach the children that go to his school to respect property. Or is he just training a group of young hoodlums for the destruction of the town generally?

Next morning in assembly, after the singing of the hymn, the principal rises solemnly and announces, "Yesterday afternoon two boys of this school disgraced its good name—" and for fifteen minutes lectures the whole assembly on the wickedness of destruction of property. The five hundred and seventy-two law-abiding young citizens have to sit there and listen, knowing that this lecture is going to cost them the musical program, or the play, that was scheduled. They resent the whole thing bitterly. They are bored stiff, and stupid, and it takes the teachers an hour to get them into a frame of mind where work is possible.

At home the same thing happens. One of the children does something annoying, or mischievous. Father or mother, maybe both, talk about the evil deed throughout the meal and keep grumbling about it for the rest of the evening. The fact that the other children had nothing to do with it does not seem to mean anything to them. The children are miserable and resentful. Why talk to them when it was Henry who did it?

General scoldings are an imposition on all who have to endure them. It is right that the wicked be brought to justice, but why drag along the innocent as well? Why deprive them of the joy of an hour in assembly or class or at the table? It does them no good, and the guilty ones use their companions as moral umbrellas. Their individual guilt has been diluted by the deluge that drowned the whole group. They can take lightly what all must share.

Keep bad deeds private. Call the culprits into conference; say all you have to say in their ears. Punish them if need be. To emphasize the right side of the wrong idea speak in praise of the good deeds done by the others. They have broken no windows, stolen no apples, stoned no cats. Tell them that you are very pleased by their good behavior. You have heard that there are some who do wrong, but you are delighted to know that they are doing well. Praise good deeds publicly, but keep the screen of privacy between the wrong-doers and the public.

The great body of children and youth are well-behaved. The number who misbehave are few in comparison. Public opinion among the school children invariably supports the right. If, however, the wrong action is spread over the whole group, if their ears are stung by loud scoldings for which there is no excuse, public opinion is, to say the least, not strongly on the side of the authority who has let his wrath run away with his reason.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing a three-cent stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

Tomatoes Grow In Small Space

Plants are Favorite of City Gardeners Because of Small Area Needed

If only one vegetable could be grown in the garden, the tomato would be chosen by many amateurs. It is not only one of the most delicious vegetables, which can be served in a variety of ways, but it is also a prodigious producer for the space it occupies. Practically no garden, however small, but can accommodate a few plants.

The fact that plants instead of seeds must be set out may discourage a few, who do not realize how simple a matter it is to grow the plants. Actually, no other plant is easier to grow at home. A seedling (made of a cigar box, if you choose) a hotbed, or a cold frame will do for this purpose. The seed box is cheapest and easiest, and will serve excellently when placed in a sunny window.

Although it is possible to purchase tomato plants, the choice varieties are likely to be available only to one who grows them. Plants found in the markets are usually in limited variety. To be sure of just the variety you want, it is best to grow your own.

Plant tomato seeds in the seed-box in rows 2 inches apart. Keep in a warm, but not hot, room, in a well-lighted window. Keep moist but not wet. When they reach a height of 2 inches, or have developed two true leaves, transplant them into another box. The outside air at this period, when not too cold, will harden them off, so when you finally transplant them again into the garden, they will be healthy and strong. About six weeks is required from planting of seed to removal to the outside garden.

Tomatoes should be a favorite of city gardeners. When staked up so the vines may grow in the air, small space is necessary to supply an average family. Plant food is particularly desirable here, as it is in all tomato plantings, and application of 4 pounds for 100 square feet of area is recommended.

J. Clark Graham Will be Speaker At Commencement

Neeenah High School Seniors to Wear Caps and Gowns This Year

Neeenah — J. Clark Graham, dean of Ripon college, Ripon, will deliver the commencement address at the Neeenah high school graduating exercises at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening, June 8, at the high school auditorium. It was announced today by Principal John H. Holzman.

Holzman also announced today that the seniors have voted to wear caps and gowns at exercises during graduating week. It will be the first time in the history of the school that the graduating seniors have used caps and gowns for the exercises.

The principal said that the seniors adopted caps and gowns this year to insure uniformity in dress and also to minimize the expenses for the girls.

The baccalaureate services will be held Sunday evening, June 5, while the senior banquet will be held during graduating week. A date has not been definitely decided.

Plans are being made by the seniors and school officials for graduating week. Miss Hazel Markon, senior class faculty advisor, reported that all of the seniors will wear the caps and gowns.

The committee in charge of caps and gowns is composed of Edna Hollenbeck, chairman, Dale Dodge, Alvin Stahfeld, Marion Kitchner, Ruth Leonard, Marjorie Thompson, Margaret Webster, Harold Borenz, John Meyer, Betsy Dowling, Annette Coy.

Other committees will be announced this week.

Following a 7:30 business meeting of Neeenah chapter, Order of Eastern Star, Wednesday evening in the Masonic temple, members and escorts will play a game. Mrs. Ella Littlefield, Mrs. Ann Pfaff, Mrs. Edna Graef and Miss Mary Roemer will be hostesses.

Mrs. Arthur Ritter, regent of the Neeenah chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, and Mrs. John Toliverson, who are delegates from the local chapter, left today for the state convention at Madison.

Members of the Twin City Business and Professional Women's club are making reservations for the club's guest card party Thursday evening in the Twin City Y.W.C.A. Auction or contract bridge, schafkopf or crossword lexicon are to be played. Miss Hilma Bergman, finance chairman, is in charge of arrangements.

Y. T. and F. club will meet at 2:15 Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Ernest Rhoades, 215 E. Doty avenue.

O'Briens Whitewash Grode Cagers, 22-0

Neeenah — The O'Briens scored a basketball oddity in the junior high school intramural basketball league when they shut out the Grode team, 22 to 0, Friday. G. Overby scored 22 points for the winners while O'Briens scored two field goals and R. Pagel, H. Maas and A. Bobb counted one goal each.

The team captained by R. Wideman held the Geibel team scoreless during the fourth quarter and scored a 28 to 6 victory. Wideman ran wild for seven baskets while J. Garriek scored four and F. Rosch counted three times. For the Geibel team, E. Landstrom scored two baskets and R. Adams counted one.

As a result of the first round of games, the Blocks, O'Briens, Widemans and Calders are tied for first place with one victory each while the Geibels, Thompsons, Grodes and Pops have lost one game each. Games will be played Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons at Butte des Morts gymnasium, according to John Novakofski, director.

Utility Reports 1937 Net Income Of Over $1,300,000

Wisconsin Public Service Corporation Files Financial Data

(Post-Crescent Madison Bureau) Madison — The Wisconsin Public Service corporation of Milwaukee and Green Bay, one of the largest public utility corporations of Wisconsin and which serves a large part of northern, northeastern and central Wisconsin, transferred to its surplus account a net income of $1,391,888 as the result of 1937 operations, its annual financial report on file with the state public service commission today shows.

The corporation, which operates only in Wisconsin, reported a gross revenues from its operations in the electric light and power, gas, street railway and auto transportation fields of $7,922,423.05, according to D. W. Faber, Milwaukee, corporation secretary who filed the report.

Electric light and power sales accounted for $6,401,648.05, gas $1,272,314, street railway $129,397, and auto transportation $119,063.

The company's report shows that it is controlled by Standard Gas and Electric company of Chicago, that there are eight common stockholders and 10,661 owners of preferred stocks, and that it owns one subsidiary corporation, the Menominee and Marinette Light and Traction company.

The value of its property was listed in the financial report at $44,538,430.

Other information includes officers salaries, construction underway, extent of its operations and the number of customers in the several hundred communities it serves, taxes, depreciation and other items of expense, and extensive details of its financial affairs.

Neenah Artist Is Honored at Opening Of Green Bay Show

Neeenah — More than 100 persons attended a reception in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Christianson, Neeenah, Saturday afternoon at the Hotel Northland, Green Bay, for the opening of an exhibit of 50 water colors by Mr. Christianson.

Miss May Hart, Neeenah Public librarian, attended the reception. Mrs. Frances Gallaher, former Neeenah resident, who is president of the Green Bay Art department, presided.

A tea was served during the reception and an inspection was made of the 50 water colors which already have been displayed at the Neeenah library.

The committee in charge of the reception was Mrs. John F. Conant, Mrs. Allen V. Glosson, Mrs. Joseph P. Grimes, Mrs. Frank Desnoyer and Mrs. Henry Foeller.

Clients Call for Mail On Postman's Holiday

Beatrice Neb. — (AP) — A postman's paradise might be the place where all the customers would come and get their mail instead of waiting for it to be delivered.

David Kassing, rural mail carrier, dwell in such a heaven for one day.

He hired the local fireman's hall, invited all his clients to call for their mail, and provided entertainment and refreshments.

Kassing says he plans to make it an annual event.

It Is Said--

That the three-pin defeat suffered by the Menasha No. 1 city team at the hands of the Neeenah city official team in the opening of the thirty-sixth annual state bowling tournament Friday night at the Muench alleys, Neeenah, rankles in the heart of Alderman M. J. Grode. The alderman is trying to promote a challenge match, Friday night the Neeenah team rolled 2120 to edge a victory over the Menasha team, whose total was 2117.

That H. Thermanson, Neeenah, hadn't bowled in about 20 years but rolled with a booster team Sunday night. He hit 129, dropped to an 82 and then came back with 216, the second highest game of the evening in the booster division.

125 Persons Attend Roller Skating Party

ABOUT 125 persons attended the benefit roller skating party given Saturday night at the armory by the Service circle of the Appleton King's Daughters. Mrs. Stephan Konz was assisted as chairman of the committee in charge by Mrs. Thomas Flanagan, Jr., Mrs. Norman Brown, Miss Rosemary Neumeister and Mrs. A. Wayne Turner. The party was one of several projects the circle is sponsoring to benefit its charities.

The International Relations group of the American Association of University Women will meet Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. William Gallaher, 838 E. Alton street. Reports on international defense will be given by Miss Ethel Nuzum and Mrs. D. L. Fulton.

When Mr. and Mrs. William Pickert, 719 E. Circle street, entertained their bridge club Saturday night at their home, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hol-strom and Mr. and Mrs. Jake Mathews were guests. Prizes were won by Mr. Mathews and Mrs. M. S. Clough. In two weeks the club will meet with Mr. and Mrs. Clough, 1521 N. Erb street.

American Legion auxiliary, both junior and senior units, will meet this evening at the Legion building to hear a talk by Dr. Wallace Marshall, Appleton physician, on "Child Welfare." The juniors will open the meeting. A pot-luck supper will be served at 6:30, preceding which the junior unit will be entertained at games after school.

After a meeting of the junior unit of the American Legion auxiliary Saturday afternoon at the Legion clubhouse, part of the group took scrapbooks to the children's ward at St. Elizabeth hospital and the others remained at the clubhouse for a candy pull. Those who visited the hospital were Irene and Eleanor Retza, Lois Bauernfeind, Phyllis Grunert, Lila and Virginia Landry, Pearl Spielbauer, Donna Leman, Elaine Sellin, Alice Mae and Helen Kasten and Betty and Lois Tornow.

Use adhesive tape to mend worn window shades. Use it, too, to patch together broken pieces of bric-a-brac.

NEENAH — Bauers Recreation keglers, Milwaukee, Sunday, topped 2,814 pins in the 975 division to take the lead in the thirty-sixth annual state tournament at Neenah-Menasha. The Milwaukee team had games of 863, 860 and 837.

The pins failed to fall heavily throughout the first three days of bowling. Rips Tavern, Milwaukee, topped the 875 division by 10 pins, with a 2,806 total on games of 952, 928 and 926 while the Krause Motors, Milwaukee, edged the George T. Meyers Progressives, Milwaukee, for first place in the 775 division.

The Motors team had a 2,649 series on games of 919, 925 and 805 while the Progressives totaled 2,647 on counts of 835, 856 and 855.

The high team game was a 1,026 Walter Johnston tavern, Milwaukee, in the 975 division followed by the Sanitary Soda Water team, Milwaukee, with a 1,013 in the 875 division. The George Becker Alloys team hit 911 for the high game in the 775 division.

Rolls 717 Score
Stanley Slack, Milwaukee keglers, hit the high series of the week-end when he scored a 717 in the doubles on lines of 215, 245 and 257. His partner J. Mikula, added a 457 to give the pair a 1,206 total and the leadership in the 350 doubles.

Slack went on to score a 603 in the singles and a 622 when rolling in the five man event with the George J. Meyer Progressives for a 1,912 total and the leadership in the all-events.

Scores generally were low. No team in the regular doubles cracked 1,200. Second in the 350 doubles went to a Racine pair, P. Neidhart and R. Hanson with 1,151. Neidhart scored a 634 and his partner hit 517.

L. Kelliher, Two Rivers, went in to lead in the regular singles, with 642 on games of 248, 223 and 211 gave C. Miller, Milwaukee, second place in the regular singles.

F. Daly scored a 630 on lines of 183, 192 and 255 for the leadership in the 175 singles. A. George, Jr., Milwaukee, rolled into second place in the 175 singles with a 627.

The high single game was a 257 by J. Anderson, Milwaukee, followed by a 264 by G. Lannert, Milwaukee. O. "Happy" Felsch, the former White Sox ball player, now a resident of Milwaukee, was among the keglers.

Menasha Teams Show
Two Menasha teams rolled in the 775 division. Floral Center and the Badgers of the Polish Falcons, who had threatened the leaders, W. Christensen hit a 617 series to top the Floral Center team. He had lines of 230, 227 and 160. Ben Napolony scored a 501 series to top the Badgers.

Three Twin City pairs competed in the doubles. S. Larsen and J. Farnakes, Neenah, rolled 962. Farnakes had 575 and included a 204 score while Larsen totaled 387.

J. Omachinski and S. Omachinski rolled a 961 total on games of 307, 315 and 336. R. Pakalski and J. Omachinski had games of 316, 266 and 323 for 905.

J. Farnakes had 557 in the singles on 180, 175 and 193 counts. One J. Omachinski rolled 215, 116 and 202 for 533 in the singles while the other hit 152, 156 and 204 for 512. R. Pakalski scored 553 on 182, 161 and 190. S. Omachinski scored a 467 on 153, 153 and 160.

New London Five Downs Merrill By 20-18 Score to 2 lead, Coach Mickelson sent in substitutes. Immediately Meshnick scored from under the basket with a pivot shot but Rajek came back and dribbled to the hoop to maintain the margin at 10-4. Bernie Stern missed two set-ups for the locals and as the clock turned toward the last half of the period Thorson missed two gift shots. Rajek faked through to give the up-state team an 8-point lead, 12 to 4, but Meshnick nullified the marks by sinking two charity shots. Thorson missed another opportunity at the free throw line as the half ended, 12 to 6.

Two minutes after the second half opened the Stacymen cut the score to 12-10. From a fighting melee under the hoop, Hoier emerged to pivot the sphere through the hoop and a minute later Bernie Stern took the ball out of a scramble and tossed a marker. Rajek, Stern's man counted on a free throw but thereafter his scoring was limited.

New London Leads

With fine precision the Stacymen continued. From the side Hoier shot the ball along the floor toward Merrill's legs to Stern who awaited under the hoop and scored. When seconds later Hoier swished a long drive to lead 14 to 13, the New London crowd went wild with enthusiasm. During the last three minutes Thorson had two opportunities to score for Merrill. Joe Coppen's shot was blocked by the game before the final whistle.

Coming out still driving, Stern got off a deliberate toss for New London to give it the edge, 16 to 14. In a minute Hoier sank another from a far corner and before four minutes of the period had passed, Meshnick added another point on a gift shot to set the game on ice with a 19 to 14 margin.

The Merrill boys became plainly worried and though they put on terrific pressure during the final minutes their accuracy suffered in the excitement. Sager, Merrill's high scoring forward, had been held by Hammerberg to a single long distance bucket and at the end rolled several balls menacingly to the shot desperately from the back court.

Rajek was fouled as he dribbled in for a shot and earned three points when he made good the bucket and one gift shot. Stern converted a personal off Rajek to leave the score at 20-17 as the end neared. Merrill's defense became offensive and drove the New London boys back under Merrill's board while the locals stalled awaiting the whistle. In the scramble New London men missed three last chances on free throws. Hammerberg committed his first foul as the deciding whistle sounded and Thorson succeeded in making the final 18 to 20 when he shot with the crowd milling around him.

Tuesday — Miller High Life versus Billie's Bumpers; Verhagen Hardware versus Research.

Wednesday — School Mams versus Coppens Shoes; Van Thull's versus Little Chute Bottles.

Thursday — Art's Decorators versus Super Calendars.

KIMBERLY — Nine keglers in the Kimberly league rolled better than 600 last week and are on the honor roll. J. Massaros heads the list with a 670 series. Others are Ole Gossens 621, D. Hageria 607, W. Roehr 637, Hank Busch 601, M. H. Verbeten 602, Henry Patch 613, Bernard Spay 627 and Joe Coppens 631. The latter also rolled high game for the week, 286.

Miller High Life took three games from Verhagen's and again is loop leader by a game and a half. Ole Gossens of the winners got a 631 series and 242 game while J. Massaros showed a 670 series and 246 game. R. Wildenberg of the Hardware got a 594 series and 223 game while Burt Bird showed a 585 series and 198 game.

Billie's Bumpers took three from the Research. Art Krieser of the Bumpers got a 577 series and 211 game. Meyer rolled a 569 series and H. Van Zeeland a 213 game. R. Hoef of the Research showed a 546 series and a 197 game.

Coppens Shoes took three from the Super Calendars on a forfeit. Joe Coppens of the Shoes rolled a 631 series and 296 game. Al Van Eyck had a 553 series and 201 game.

The Rare Bowlers took three from Van Thull's. W. Roehr of the Bowlers hit a 637 series and 263 game. D. Hageria reported a 607 series and 226 game. For the Bakers, Bud Vandehy showed a 571 series and 228 game. Vern Vandehy rolled a 527 series and Martin Vandehy a 195 game.

Wrinkles took three from the Little Chute Bottles. H. Busch of the winners rolled a 601 series and 222 game. M. H. Verbeten rolled a 602 series and 205 game. For the Bottles, Pat Lemmers rolled a 552 series and 203 game.

The School Mams won three from Art's Decorators. Henry Patch of the Teachers got a 613 series and 210 game while Joe Doerfler rolled a 555 series and H. Simons a 238 game. Walt Schomisch of the Decorators got a 574 series and 204 game while Gordon Breir showed a 556 series and 208 game.

The Athletic Club won two from the Electricians. C. Vander Velden of the winners got a 570 series and 197 game and E. Vander Velden showed a 551 series and 208 game. For the Electricians, B. Spay rolled a 627 series and 240 game. J. Vander Zanden hit 550 series and 207 game.

Marion Wallops Edgar Quintet

utes Marion fumbled opportunities while it played too fast. Later Edgar became hopelessly wild in passing and shooting.

Murray Meyer, Marion forward, and Roy Elandi, guard, tied the score shortly by converting one of two free throws each in succession. The two boys subsequently collected nearly all Marion's gift shots, 20 out of 25, and made 13 of the 17 (shots). Meyer missed two. Elandi three. Meyer caged four buckets for 15 points and Elandi hooped two for 12 points.

Marion Takes Lead

In the last two minutes of the first quarter Marion started to click and piled up a 7 to 2 lead in the short time before the period ended. Elandi was left ungaurded to score a pot-shot and Meyer dropped a toss from the corner. Wulk converted on a personal for the other point.

The three remaining periods are a record only of Marion's scoring accomplishments interrupted by Edgar's attempts at the free throw line. The shaken contenders made only five out of seventeen opportunities. The second basket game ended in the third period when Ken Bucher, forward, tipped the ball from under the basket.

Wulk, Marion center, was jerked from the game with three personals in the middle of the second quarter and returned to the game at the half only to be removed permanently after the first scrimmage. Coach Ansoorge gave the rest of his squad an opportunity and when things went hopeless for Edgar,

Northern State League Defers Action for Week

Little Chute's Withdrawal Throws Wrench in Loop's Plans

KAUKAUNA — Plans for the 1938 season of the Northern State League were postponed until next Sunday at a meeting here yesterday of club representatives. The 8-spoke circuit which looked as a probability after a session two weeks ago, received a jolt when Little Chute representatives reported that the American Legion, backers of their entry the last three weeks, had definitely cut out of the picture this season. Rather than operate with a 7-club wheel it was decided to give Little Chute time to hold a meeting this week and attempt to secure other backing. In the event that Little Chute withdraws from the league six clubs, New London, Clintonville, Kimberly, Two Rivers, Green Bay and Manitowish entered their willingness to operate with seven teams.

Kaukauna Protest

Kaukauna protested against a 7-team arrangement, objecting that the schedule would be thrown off balance and that such a lineup was doomed to failure before it started. If Little Chute withdraws, however, Kaukauna is not expected to hinder the formation of a 7-club circuit. Such a look would provide for a 24-game schedule for each team.

In explaining their stand the Little Chute representatives said the backing required of the Legion was "a little too steep," and that they knew of no other organization or group to back the team. Another meeting will be held the middle of this week to secure a sponsor.

The league formally voted to accept the applications of New London and Clintonville, confirming its unofficial action of a former meeting.

The next meeting will be held on Sunday at Hotel Kaukauna, at which time officers will be elected, a committee to draw up a schedule appointed, and the composition of the league definitely decided upon.

West Allis Wins Badminton Trophy

Three Players Capture Four State Titles at Wisconsin Rapids

Wisconsin Rapids — Three

West Allis players captured four of the Wisconsin amateur badminton titles here yesterday afternoon, and then went on to win the trophy for the club championship.

Racine players, who were defending title-holders, failed to survive, although reaching the finals in two events. Stars of the three-day tourney in which 75 players from 15 clubs competed were Herbert Fisher, athletic director for West Allis High school, and his secretary, Miss Lillian Wanek. Between them they won four titles.

Final results:
Men's singles — Fisher defeated Fred Kisow, Racine, 15-10, 15-15.
Women's singles — Miss Wanek beat Miss Irene Flores West Allis, 11-5, 11-5.

Mixed doubles — Fisher and Wanek beat Vincent Becker and Martha Christensen, Racine, 15-7, 15-7.

Men's doubles — J. H. Owens and Elmer Hehnke, River Falls, defeated Fisher and Dean Foote, West Allis, 15-10, 15-9.

Women's doubles — Wanek and Flores beat Miss Louise Branstad and Miss Eunice Manske, River Falls, 15-8, 15-9.

Madison was awarded the 1938 tourney trophy a business session of the Wisconsin Badminton association Saturday and Dr. R. J. Francis, Madison, was elected president of the group to succeed Del Rowland, Wisconsin Rapids.

Harold W. Corrigan, Waukesha, was named vice president; and B. C. Janes, Madison, secretary.

WHALE IN SEMIS

Jerry Whale, Neenah, representing Lawrence Men's club keglers advanced to the semi-finals in the singles event of the meet. Whale defeated James, Madison, 15-3, 15-1; William Brockman, Wisconsin Rapids, 15-0, 15-1; and Chet Pieper, LaCrosse, 15-7, 15-3. He then entered the semi-finals and lost to Fred Kisow, Racine, 17-16 and 15-11.

John Pinkerton, Neenah, won his first match from Dunn, LaCrosse, but dropped his second to Henry Schuetz, Manitowish.

Fred Seaborn, Neenah, won over Plaza Wisconsin Rapids, and lost to Chet Pieper, La Crosse.

Gib Stevens, Neenah, lost to Bullock, West Allis; John Whitney, lost to Mader, Wisconsin Rapids; and Bob Sage, Neenah, lost to Murehfeldt, Wisconsin Rapids.

The Neenah doubles teams didn't do so well excepting the Pinkerton-Whale duo. They beat Bill Hoffman and Tom Utgard, Wisconsin Rapids, in their first match but were defeated by "Fuzzy" Douglas, University of Wisconsin baseball coach, and Dr. Francis, Madison, 10-17 in the first game and 17-14 in the third. The Neenah men won the second game, 15-11.

Coach Shultis gave all his men a workout.

The score at the quarters was 7-2, 25-5, 34-8 and 39-9.

The box score:—

Marion—G.T.P.	Edgar—G.T.P.
Brockhardt	3 0 3 K. Fisher
Wulk	1 1 4 E. Hoier
Meyer	1 1 4 Ome
Plank	1 1 8 Hoffmann
Plank	1 1 1 Lerman
Kristof	1 0 0 Werner
F. Meyer	1 0 1 Drummond

EMPIRE FOR A LADY

BY ALAN LEMAY

Chapter 49
"It's You"

It seemed to me that Christine was vastly relieved to find me working out a set of problems that were my own, not hers. It had been an astonishment to me, though none to her, that James Clyde had written a new will, this one without my help.

Time and tide had changed a lot of things: Mantusen was broken, and Pentongen was exalted, and James Clyde was no longer a gun-runner; and as I read his will I learned that I was Rajah Thorne of Balingong. I was trying to estimate what this meant.

Once I would have been sorry to learn that it meant anything at all; but now, as I thought of my Dyaks who had fought for me in the Tommarup, this was not so. For they had changed me in that black river. In some part, their successes would always be my successes, and their failures my failures; I would never be able to think of them as monkeys again. How they had fought! Like Malays, blind to the odds or fear of death, I could never forget what had happened on a day when I had been too fever-blind to see it, when a handful of fanatic, deluded parangmen had carried their White Tuan to an unbelievable victory.

I wanted to talk to Christine about this, to tell her that I could no longer say to hell with the brown men; but she slept and slept. Only once, for a little while, she awoke to talk for a short interval.

She said, "If only I could forget it! All of it. All of it except some things that were very fine in you, and in James Clyde. But the terrible destroying of lives—and all wasted! All wasted, every one . . ."

"Not one. Not a single one!" I was not just seeking a way to ease her mind, this time; I believed it, every word. From now on the whole struggle will be different than we thought. We'll have to fight warily, and for a long time, with weapons we don't even know about yet. But I'm not going to quit my Dyaks."

"Your Dyaks?"

"Just by pure accident, without any planning or credit, I happen to be one of the weapons. There's a myth now about a Tuan Darah. It's a name they made themselves, and it symbolizes nothing except what they themselves did. Without intelligent direction, or even any direction, for I was in a fever dream about it—in a fever dream. But they will answer that name, and rise to it; and they rise knowing Kamangs follow that name, so that they fight crazily, without fear. We can raise Sumantang with that name! I know that as well as if it were truly my own."

"Paul," Christine said, "I think they have given you a great gift, in that."

Tied to Balingong

I felt thick-tongued, incoherent. It came to me that I had seemed to be boasting when I knew I had not. I said, "I can't think of this as a gift. I think it still belongs to me."

She said, "If only I could forget it! All of it. All of it except some things that were very fine in you, and in James Clyde. But the terrible destroying of lives—and all wasted! All wasted, every one . . ."

Anniversary of Legion Observed At Supper Party

Memorial Service Held in Conjunction With Celebration

New London — The American Legion Norris Spencer post and auxiliary celebrated the nineteenth anniversary of the organization with a supper, memorial service and entertainment program at the clubhouse last night. Tribute was paid to the post's dead in a memorial service conducted by Mrs. L. J. Manske. A huge birthday cake served as a late lunch after cards were played.

Greetings with flowers were extended to the post by the past president's parley of the auxiliary, by the auxiliary and by the Junior auxiliary. Presentation of the flowers were made by Mrs. D. B. Egan and Barbara VanAlstine, respectively. Helmut Ehrenreich, post commander, responded.

Leading the entertainment was a humorous skit presented by past presidents of the auxiliary. Taking part were Mrs. Oscar Nemschoff, Mrs. L. J. Manske, Mrs. Helmut Ehrenreich, Mrs. A. G. VanAlstine, Mrs. D. B. Egan and Mrs. Richard Gehrke. The skit was an original script by Mrs. M. A. Ullerich.

A negro spiritual was sung by the Washington High school boys' quartet and Patricia Egan sang a solo, "Spirit Flower." Other numbers by high school students were a flute trio with Mary Dawson, Richard Demming and Patricia Egan, a clarinet solo by Orville Sanders and a trombone solo by Tim Kellogg.

Prizes at cards were won as follows: bridge, Mrs. VanAlstine, Mrs. Egan and Mrs. John Nugent; schafkopf, Mrs. Al Stern and Mrs. Ed Jagoditch. There were about 15 tables.

The auxiliary has invited the post to a conservation meeting at the clubhouse Thursday evening. A special program will be arranged in addition to the regular meeting.

New London Society

New London — The Order of Eastern Star will hold a regular meeting at the Masonic temple this evening. Officers are Mrs. J. W. Monsted, chairman, Mrs. Eva Dawson, Mrs. Gilbert Fonstad and Miss Kathryn Dawn.

A card party was held at the temple Friday night instead of a dance and prizes went to Mrs. H. H. Helms and E. N. Calef.

The Amity club was entertained by Mrs. Barry Malt at her home at Hortonville Friday evening. Prizes went to Dorothy Sherman and Mrs. Helmut Ehrenreich. The group will meet next on March 31.

State 4-H Club Leader Outlines Projects at Gathering at Brillion

Chilton — Miss Grace Rountree, assistant 4-H club leader from the University of Wisconsin, spent Friday with County Agent A. L. McMahon in connection with the Brillion Home Show held at Brillion the last three days of the week. Meetings were held in the afternoon and evening in the Brillion High school with local 4-H club leaders. Miss Rountree outlined the many 4-H club projects, in which members could take part, and the prizes, trips, camps, and the importance of 4-H club training to the business of farming and the enjoyment of rural life and rural programs of work.

Several new games of recent origin were explained and other types of entertainment were outlined with which to keep 4-H club meetings interesting and entertaining.

Miss Rountree illustrated the many achievements that have come about through enthusiastic and intelligent cooperation built up in 4-H club work.

The 4-H club band of Sherwood, under the leadership of Mr. and Mrs. James Hallett gave an illustration of what can be done in that line.

E. D. Holden, secretary of the Pure Breed Seed Growers' association visited at the county agent's booth at the home show Thursday. He also put up an exhibit of Reed's Canary grass and hybrid corn. In talking to growers he said that due to growing conditions last year, 1937, growers should be very careful to secure only the best quality seed for use in 1938—free from disease and with sufficient vitality to insure a good even stand. Quality seed produces quality crops, and quality crops get top prices and better yields. Cheap seed is poor economy, in fact, no economy at all. The best seed is always the cheapest, said Mr. Holden.

More than 700 attended the show on Thursday, and about 650 on Friday, with almost as many on Saturday.

James Clow, county pension administrator, who has been ill in the Wisconsin Veterans' hospital in Milwaukee for the past three weeks, returned to his work this week. Mr. Clow is a World War veteran.

The annual reading circle conference assembly of rural teachers of Calumet county was held at the high school Saturday. One of the main speakers was W. A. Burdick of Madison, safety director of the state highway department.

J. Williams and L. Miller of Milwaukee, federal auditors of the pension department spent the last week auditing the accounts of the Calumet county pension department.

During the last month, 591 persons in Calumet county shared in the distribution of surplus commodities received from the federal government. Among the principal items rationed out to the poor were 95 bushels of oranges, 74 bushels of apples, 33 cases of peas,

Factors Governing Farm Income are Topic at Meeting

'Better be Tenant First,' U. W. Agricultural Economist Advises

Waupaca — "An 'average' farmer is licked before he starts," according to I. F. Hall, farm economist, who with A. J. Kramer, also of the college of agriculture, University of Wisconsin, appeared before a well filled room in the city hall Friday night to discuss farm management and herd improvement.

"Better be a tenant first," Mr. Hall advised. "A man may find out in a year or two that he can't be a farmer."

He urged farmers to keep records of whatever transpires on the farm and the following factors were suggested as items to be given their consideration, affecting as they do the labor income of any farm: (1) size of farm in crop acre; (2) amount of butterfat sold per cow; (3) value of crops per acre; (4) livestock returns for each $100 in feed used; (5) percentage of income from milk.

While being better than average in one or more of these factors will help to insure higher labor incomes, being better than average in as many factors as possible will be the surest way to the farmer's advantage, Mr. Hall said. "It is the lack of efficiency in the operation of a farm, not the size of the farm that accounts for the small incomes derived," said Mr. Hall. "Many farmers know what to do, but just don't get around to do it," he continued.

All of the factors mentioned are primarily under the control of the farm operator. Therefore it is imperative that the individual farmer make a careful analysis of his business and form a workable plan which will bring up the weak points, Mr. Hall stated. There is no one factor which makes for a complete success of a farm, but there should be a combination of several factors working efficiently on the same farm.

One of the most significant things which records have shown is the spread in labor incomes between a high 20 per cent and a low 20 per cent of farms in the same size group, having the same number of cows and selling in the same market. This spread runs from $1,118 on farms of less than 40 acres of crops to $2,642 on farms of over 100 acres of crops. In each group the big difference is in the production of butterfat per cow, value of crops per acre and returns per $100 worth of feed used. These factors may be equally good on farms of any size.

According to Mr. Hall it pays to be better than average in several factors rather than to be excellent in one and below average in the others. Additional well-managed enterprises help to make up for low production in dairying while on the other hand high production per unit help to make up for lack in diversity. After all, the highest

Rural Pupils to be Guests at School

About 75 8th Graders Will Visit Classes at High School

New London — Rural school activity day will be held April 1 at Washington school this year, according to L. M. Warner, agriculture instructor. About 75 students from the eighth grades of rural schools in this vicinity will be guests of the high school on that day to become acquainted with the building, class routine and group activities.

Students have been invited from schools in the townships of Caledonia, Mukwa, Lebanon, Reyalton, Deer Creek, Maple Creek, Liberty, Hortonville and Dale.

The groups will visit classes all day from 8 o'clock in the morning to 3:15 in the afternoon. A playground program will be arranged for 3:15 to 5:30, after which a free supper will be served jointly by the home economics department and Future Farmers of America.

The visitors will be guests of the school at the Senior Class play, "Run, Hero, Run," the evening of April 1.

Future Farmer Cagers Lose to Oshkosh Team

New London — The Future Farmer basketball team lost to Oshkosh, 26 to 16, in a game at the Washington High school gym Friday night. The young mens part time agricultural group won out in a see-saw battle, 23 to 21, the game was the second lost to Oshkosh by the high school group and the second victory of the out-of-school players.

Saturday the F.F.A. team will enter the F.F.A. Fox River valley basketball tournament at Oshkosh.

Laud Kimberly Patrolman For Arrest of 2 Burglars

Kimberly — Congratulations from a fingerprint expert and a member of the federal bureau of investigation were among the many from officials to Martin Keyers, Kimberly night policeman, when he appeared at the courthouse Saturday morning after capturing Marvin Behnke and Marvin Kiefer here last week as they emerged from a tavern about 2 o'clock Tuesday morning. Both men were sentenced to Waupun Saturday.

Sheriff John Lappen, who also praised Mr. Keyers, said that his department has had many calls in this and from nearby counties during the recent months regarding burglaries which the confession of the men have solved. Mr. Keyers also was congratulated by District Attorney Ray Dohr, members of the Kimberly Police and Fire commission, and others.

Keyers said that about 2 o'clock Tuesday morning when he was on Main street near Kimberly avenue he noticed a car at the corner of the tavern which had not been there a

100 Girls Take Part In Play Day Program

New London — About 100 girls took part in a play day at Washington High school Saturday under the direction of Miss Alice Ziemer, physical education instructor. Forty girls from Clintonville, Manawa, Hortonville and Waupaca were entertained by members of the Girls' Athletic association at the New London school.

An Indian theme was carried out through the program. Girls were assigned to tribes for athletic games and contests and the winners were awarded with ribbons and medals. A lunch was served at noon by 15 girls of the home economics department.

New London Pin Setters Beat Clintonville Team

New London — The New London Pin Setters beat Clintonville pin setters three games at Prah's alleys yesterday afternoon and by a total of 2,312 to 1,196. Alfred Bellie pounded out a 568 series for the locals in games of 181, 183 and 204. H. Zingleman paced the visitors with a 436 count. In the first game the New London boys massed a total of 181 pins.

Rolling for New London were Harold Quaintance, Bellie, Ray Vauhschock, Marshall Otis, Lee Smith, Clintonville, E. Thorpe, Art Zemske, Bob Robenhorst, H. S. Zingleman, E. Beck.

income farms are these having a combination of two conditions. "Men not interested in improving their herds are not usually found at these meetings," was Mr. Kramer's greeting to the assembled farmers. While he admitted that Wisconsin is improving its herd improvement associations and that herds in these associations are showing a higher production than those not within its membership, he emphasized four points that must be considered by all dairy farmers: (1) cull out low-producing cows; (2) improve feeding; (3) help in the selection of cows from which calves should be raised; (4) determine the value of sires by testing daughters for production.

With the purchasing power of the farmer down to 74 per cent, the farmer will not feel as good in 1938 as he did in 1937, according to the economists. With the decrease in price of grain, potatoes and eggs, dairying still looks as good as anything, they maintained.

HOLLYWOOD LIGHTS CAMERA ACTION HAPPENINGS

BY ROBBIN COONS

Hollywood — An old scene friend has passed from the picture, unheralded and unmourned. Gone is the lengthy fadeout scene which used to signal us to get our hats and coats.

Time was when a movie-wise patron could be half-way through the exit before the hero had finished planting the fade-out kiss. Even if the patron weren't movie-wise, he would leave anyway because the lady in the s e a ahead, who knew her signals, would be pinning on her hat and he couldn't see if he did stay.

But the protracted movie ending outlasted the hat pin era in feminine millinery by many a year. Long after the screen story was done, the villain disposed of and true love rewarded, the film kept filling the screen through blooming cherry orchards the way who'd girl would stroll with her—usually into the sunset. Arm in arm, the happy pair would stroll down the blossoming lanes, while the wise audience strolled, in the opposite direction, down the aisles and out.

One Comes Close

About the only movie you can catch walking away into the sunset nowadays is a Charlie Chaplin picture. Chaplin likes to send his little tramp shuffling and swinging down open roads for the fade-out. But then Charlie isn't making pictures nowadays.

The ending of "Gold Is Where You Find It" came pretty close—George Brent and Olivia de Havilland standing on a promontory looking out over their fertile valley while Brent philosophized and the color camera caught Cali-

Exports of Paper Show 22 Per Cent Gain in January

Imports, Except Pulpwood, Decline, Federal Report Reveals

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

Washington — Chalking up a 22 per cent gain for January, 1938, exports of paper and paper base stocks reached a total value of $3,168,696, or an increase of $575,698 over January, 1937, according to department of commerce figures.

In the fine paper field, exports of tissue and crepe papers more than doubled, and writing papers increased nearly 35 per cent, the statistics show.

Converted products, however, did not fare so well, the department of commerce points out.

Toilet paper shipments dropped off 61 per cent, paper towels 2 per cent, and envelopes 18 per cent.

While exports of surface-coated papers increased 30 per cent, book papers dropped off 48 per cent, the department of commerce states.

Exports of paper boxes doubled in volume, but exports of building boards were distinctly lower—fiber insulating board having dropped off nearly 45 per cent, and sheathing and building papers nearly 20 per cent.

Imports—with the exception of pulpwood—dropped off, according to the statistics. The 13 per cent decline in January was due largely to a decline in newsprint imports, although a decrease in 1938 is also observable in items like kraft wrapping, greaseproof and waterproof papers, writing papers, and miscellaneous boards, the department of commerce states.

Wheat Prices Fail To Make Comeback After Early Slump

Prices Turn Down in Face Of Decreased U. S. Visible Supply

Chicago—(P)—Despite late reports of dust storms in Kansas, wheat prices here failed to rally much from preceding tumbles of 2 cents a bushel today.

Selling of wheat in Chicago was largely on the part of houses with eastern connections, and was associated with dearth of North American export business. Downturns of prices were in the face of an accelerated decrease of U. S. United States wheat visible supply total.

At the close, Chicago wheat futures were 1-1/2 under Saturday's finish, May 85-1/2, July 82-3/4, corn 1/2 off to 1/4 up, May 59-1/2, July 61-1/2, and oats 1/4 down.

New York—(P)—Additional recovery came into the stock market at the start of today's proceedings but the upswing quickly lost momentum and initial advances running to 2 or more points were eventually reduced or cancelled.

Dealings slowed the customary jog of the past several weeks and price trends were well mixed at the close.

An upturn in this week's steel mill production of 1.5 points to 33.7 per cent of capacity, the steel mill production of 1.5 points to 33.7 per cent of capacity, the best mark since last November, was without appreciable stimulation for steel stocks.

With the ticker tape crawling through, transfers approximately 500,000 shares.

Ahead most of the day—several skidded at the last—were Youngstown Sheet, U. S. Steel, American Can, Du Pont, Western Union, Standard Oil of N. J., Great Northern, Southern Railway, General Motors, Goodrich, Sears Roebuck, International Harvester, Anaconda, Kennecott, McIntyre Porcupine, Johns-Manville, Schenley, Union Carbide and Owens-Illinois.

Inclined to give ground were American Telephone, Westinghouse, Bethlehem, Boeing, Douglas Aircraft, General Electric, Pennsylvania, U. S. Rubber, Consolidated Edison and North American.

Milwaukee Road Head Predicts Big Deficit

Washington—(P)—Henry A. Scandrett, president and trustee of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad, estimated today the road would have a net operating deficit of $482,000 for the first six months of 1938, compared with a net operating income of $4,361,369 for the first half of 1937.

Testifying at the Milwaukee road reorganization hearing before the interstate commerce commission, Scandrett submitted a forecast of the road's earnings and cash situation for the next six months, based on figures March 15.

He said recent increases in freight rates would add $5,300,000, but that freight traffic probably would decrease by 15 per cent, although passenger traffic was expected to rise 2 per cent.

Scandrett added it was especially difficult to make an accurate forecast at this time and that his estimates might be considerably off.

Fat Steer Receipts in Chicago Largest Since January

Chicago—(P)—(U.S.D.A.)—Largest receipts since last January broke the fat steer market today.

Steers with weight predominated in the crop, attracted by recent upturns. Feeder cattle continued scarce and active, however. Moderate runs dominated hogs and lambs, but hogs sold off and the market on lambs was slow, with the top under 80.

Hogs 16,000 including 5,000 direct; market slow, mostly 10-15 lower than Friday's average; top 9.50; bulk 180-200 lbs 9.00-9.5; 200-250 lbs 9.75-10.05; good and choice 140-170 lbs 9.00-9.40; 375-500 lbs packing 500s 7.85-8.15; smooth light butcher kinds 8.25-9.40.

President Asked Vincent to Delay Taking Bench Job

Appointed Justice Remains Active Member of House Of Representatives

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
WASHINGTON—Maybe if President Roosevelt familiarizes the American people with the idea of asking for "yes" and "no" answers, such as he is insisting upon from Chairman Morgan, of the House Committee on the Judiciary, the president's question, "Do you respect the spirit of the constitution of the United States when you appoint a member of the house of representatives as a judge of the United States circuit court of appeals, and even though confirmed by the senate of the United States more than three months ago, you ask him to remain an active member of the house and in charge of a piece of legislation on which, as a judge, he is subsequently to pass in hundreds of tax cases?"

Mr. Vinson has delayed taking the actual oath of office as the representative of the president, who has wanted him to steer the new tax bill through the house and conference committee. Mr. Vinson has been chairman of the subcommittee of the house ways and means committee and is certain to be a member of the conference committee on the new tax bill appointed by the two houses to iron out differences between the two chambers on legislation.

The purpose of that clause, together with another sentence in the same provision about members of the senate and house being appointed to civil positions created during their respective terms of office, was to prevent the appointing power from being used to influence improperly the national legislature or for congress to seek to create new jobs for its members.

Mr. Vinson comes from Kentucky, and there is no particular reason why the president has to appoint anyone from outside the District of Columbia to fill a vacancy on the court of appeals bench here. Nor is Mr. Vinson such an outstanding lawyer that he must needs be selected above all others to fill the vacancy. As a matter of fact, Mr. Vinson, by his record in congress, has not shown himself to be judicial-minded at all, and is regarded by many of the oldest members of congress as one of the most partisan-minded men in the Democratic party.

Senate Confirms
But the senate, which is the sole judge of qualifications, confirmed Mr. Vinson, and that's in conformity with the constitution, so no exception can now be taken to this type of appointment. Indeed, no criticism can be visited on Mr. Vinson himself for accepting a life job on the bench in the District of Columbia at $12,500 a year.

Why did the president ask Mr. Vinson to delay taking the oath of office? Is not Mr. Vinson now a circuit court judge of the United States and has he not in fact been so ever since Dec. 9, 1937? Was it intended under our constitutional system that, by the introduction of a technicality, the president should be able to keep the judicial and legislative branches of the government separated should be defeated?

plans ran itself out, and finished lamely. She was very quiet, and I was tired again. I felt becalmed, like the Avon.

Then suddenly I knew what was wrong with me, and with all my plans. I threw my pencil into the sea.

"First of all," I said, "I think we need to go home."

"We need—what?"

"We've been in brown islands too long. We have to go home to 'em. Eat things we used to eat. Get the fever out of us, and get our perspective back. Then all this will come clear."

"Home?" Christine faltered.

"England or America—it's all the same to me."

"Paul, you said 'we.'"

Her eyes were free of sleep for the first time since we had cleared Balingong pass; and now we looked at each other, clearly.

I said, "You weren't in love with Clyde. It nearly broke your heart that you couldn't be, because you hated to hurt him. You admired him, and respected him—you thought he was truly great. But you were not in love with him."

"How long have you known that?"

"Since I came back from the Tomarrup. I guess. Isn't it true?"

She said, "I never loved anybody but you. Though I didn't know it for a while. I even thought I disliked you. Until I tried to go away; and then I knew I couldn't ever leave you when you needed me—whether you wanted me or not."

"And you've known that I loved you—you've known it for a long time?"

"Of course."

"Then, why don't we say so?"

"I've been wondering that for quite some time."

I took a deep breath, and a lot of the tautness went out of me, so that I could grin, and stretch, and relax. I said, "I'm half way home already. Home to me is two things. It's snow on the roofs; and it's you."

She came across to me, behind my chair, and laid her cheek against my forehead, so that her loose hair blinded my eyes.

"To me it's only one thing. It's you."

Report 21 Cases of Measles in Appleton

An epidemic of measles threatened Appleton last week when 21 cases of the disease were reported to Claude N. Greisch, deputy health officer. Most of the cases were reported at Washington and Jefferson grade schools early in the week. A total of 24 cases are active in the city.

One case of scarlet fever, two cases of chicken pox and two cases of tuberculosis also were reported. Total cases in the city include 24 of measles, 6 of chicken pox and 7 cases of scarlet fever.

ARTIC HYSTERIA
Up in the Arctic, there is a strange malady that sometimes attacks the strongest men for no apparent reason. It is known among explorers of the frozen wastes as "Arctic hysteria."

Careful tests reveal that as much as two days before the arrival of one of the dreaded Arctic storms, attended as they usually are by intense magnetic disturbance, the human heart beat generally sinks to about one-half its normal rhythm.

This rising tension and tempo seem to have some relationship to the tension in the magnetic conditions that accompany the Arctic tempest.

Deed Authorized For Sale of Old Power House, Site

Council Also Approves Purchase of Land Near Municipal Airport

Clintonville—An adjourned meeting of the city council was held Friday evening when the mayor and city clerk were authorized to execute a warranty deed to the old power house and site, which was recently sold to the Clintonville Transfer company for $3,000. It was also voted to pay $2,000 to W. A. Olen for 60 acres of land adjoining the municipal airport site. The additional land was needed for the development of the airport project.

A delegation of farmers of the Clintonville Cooperative Milk Pool met with the council to discuss the proposition of their building a dairy plant in this city. The farmers are considering several locations, among which are the Ruth property at the corner of Madison and Auto streets; Torrey Cedar company land on E. Third street; and land near the Clintonville Canning company plant. Aldermen voted to appropriate the sum of $500 from the city industrial fund upon the completion of a plant valued at $5,000 or more. The Milk Pool members will be required to purchase their own site and plan to erect a modern plant 36 by 60 feet in size for the manufacture of cheese and butter.

Robert Cramer, Jr., of Milwaukee was present at the meeting to confer with the council on matters pertaining to the Clintonville Sewage Disposal plant, which was erected last year under the supervision of the Cramer and Sons Engineering company. John Kafka, operator at the plant, explained that a larger gas engine generator is needed to efficiently use the sewage gas which is produced at the plant. With a larger engine, it is expected that 85 per cent of the power necessary for operating the plant will be furnished by the by-product, thus affecting a material saving to the city on electrical current consumed. The matter will be further investigated by the sewer committee, the contractors and the engineers. The city is withholding final payment on the plant until the necessary adjustments are made.

Tax Payments
Eighty-six per cent of the taxes for the city of Clintonville were paid by March 15, the last day of the extended time limit. Of the total tax roll of $128,830.58 there has been paid $110,942.94, leaving an uncollected balance of $17,887.65. It is expected that this amount will be reduced by March 22, when City Treasurer Dr. Robert Fischer sends his returns to the county office.

Dr. and Mrs. Frank Walch, the Rev. and Mrs. E. W. Marks and Melvin Bartz spent Thursday evening at Bondell where Dr. Walch gave his lecture on "The Great Pyramid and Its Divine Message" at the Evangelical church.

The Four Wheel Drive Girls' club enjoyed a St. Patrick's day party Thursday evening at Hotel Elwood in New London. A dinner was served to 20 guests, after which "fifty" was played. Prizes at the game went to Mrs. Harland Jones and Miss Grace Phehl. The party was arranged by the Misses Noreen Tanner and Lillian Schunk.

The Women's Christian Temperance Union met Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. R. W. Moss-holder on S. Main street. The lesson on "Medical Temperance" was conducted by Mrs. H. W. Anthes.

Amity division of the Congregational Dorcas society will meet Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. J. Monty on Waupaca street.

Masonic Gathering
A covered-dish supper and get-together for Masons, Eastern Stars and their families was held Friday evening at the Masonic hall. Entertainment was provided by a "School days" program, which opened with assembly singing led by the Rev. W. H. Wiese with Mrs. Geo. Spage as soloist. A declaration, "Patrons' day at the Village School" was given by Junia Greb; two saxophone selections were played by Isabel Wega with piano accompaniment by her mother, Mrs. William Wega; a declamation, "Brotherly Love," was presented by Wesley Thies; and two vocal solos were sung by Carmen Campbell with Beverly W. Chester playing the piano accompaniment. Group singing and an old-fashioned game concluded the evening.

Past Matrons of the O.E.S. held their March meeting Friday afternoon at Hotel Marson, the affair being in the form of a St. Patrick's party. Fourteen members were present for a one o'clock luncheon, after which bridge was the diversion. Honors were awarded to Mrs. A. V. Chamberlin, Mrs. Reuben Lendved and Miss Viola Behling. Hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. G. H. Billings and Mrs. George Hughes. The next meeting of the club will be held on April 15, when Mrs. R. E. Knister and Mrs. J. B. Nime will be the hostesses.

A regular meeting of the Eastern Star chapter will be held Tuesday evening. Committees are completing arrangements for a public carnival to be held at the Masonic temple on Friday evening.

Feed Lawns Early So That Food Can Work Into Ground

Grass Makes Best Growth In Cool Moist Weather of Spring

The gardener who plans and looks ahead, extending his garden tasks over as long a period of time as possible, so as to avoid in some measure the April-May rush of things that have to be done then, will be glad to know that the spring feeding of the lawn can be made very early—before the rush of other garden tasks start. In fact, this is not only the most convenient, but the very best time to feed your lawn.

The time? In northern localities, just as the frost is coming out of the ground—some time during the month of March.

In the southern sections, when the winter grasses are waning, and before the permanent grasses resume active growth.

When the ground is thawing, the soil is in a porous condition, honeycombed and creviced. Plant food works down in the crevices when applied, and prevents very little of the product from being carried away when the ground becomes completely thawed out.

Late snows and spring rains come along and the plant foods are carried down through the soil to the roots, in time for the hungry plants to assimilate it just as soon as growth begins.

Remember that it takes some little time for plant food to work from the surface down to the root area. If we postpone feeding of the lawn until the grass has started top growth, then the plant must wait for its nourishment until this plant food can work on down to the roots; as a result proper nourishment is not furnished right at the time it is needed. Vigorous early growth makes a healthy, dense deep-rooted turf.

This early feeding gives the lawn just the head-start it needs on the weeds, too. Grass makes its best growth in the cool moist weather of early spring, quite some time before the weeds start into growth. The dense turf that results from early spring lawn care is thus a good insurance against weeds.

When plant food is applied before the grass starts to grow, it is unnecessary to water it in. All that is necessary is to scatter the plant food evenly on top of the ground and let the late snows and spring rains do the rest of the job.
